Activities Permissible for National Banks and Federal Savings Associations, Cumulative, 2017 Edition

The Office of the Comptroller of the Currency (OCC) regulates and supervises national banks and federal savings associations.¹ National banks may engage in activities that are part of, or incidental to, the business of banking pursuant to 12 USC 24(Seventh), or are otherwise authorized for a national bank. A federal savings association may engage in activities that are authorized under section 5 of the Home Owners' Loan Act, 12 USC 1464, or are otherwise authorized for a federal savings association. The business of banking is an evolving concept and the permissible activities of national banks similarly evolve over time. The same holds true concerning the permissible activities of federal savings associations, subject to the applicable statutory limitations.

This list of permissible activities is not exclusive; the OCC may permit national banks and federal savings associations to conduct additional activities in the future. This edition updates the list of permissible activities to: reflect precedent issued since the last edition as well as other relevant precedent not included in previous editions; streamline certain entries for readability; and specifically, for federal savings associations, include applicable interpretive letters and corporate decisions issued by the OCC after the transfer date.² OCC precedent remains applicable until rescinded, superseded, or revised.³

It is ultimately the responsibility of the user of this list to determine whether changes to applicable laws and regulations impact the permissibility of an activity. As noted in earlier editions, previously permissible activities may become impermissible as a result of statutory or regulatory changes. National banks and federal savings associations should not engage in activities in reliance on this document and instead should review the authorities cited and other relevant precedent before engaging in an activity.

Individual regulated institutions that are subject to OCC examination and enforcement authority may be precluded from engaging in otherwise permissible activities based on safety and soundness or other regulatory or compliance considerations. Any activity described in this list as permissible for a national bank or federal savings association is also permissible for an operating subsidiary of a national bank or federal savings association.⁴ The reverse is also true: any activity described as permissible for an operating subsidiary is also permissible for the national bank or

² For information about interpretive letters applicable to federal savings associations issued before the transfer date, visit <https://www.occ.gov/about/who-we-are/occ-for-you/bankers/ots-integration.html>.

³ Similarly, OTS precedent for federal savings associations remains applicable until rescinded, superseded, or revised.

⁴ In addition, federal savings associations may have permissible service corporation activities.

federal savings association (FSA) to engage in directly.

General Banking Activities

Branching

- Courier/Messenger Services. A national bank may establish and operate a messenger service to transport items relevant to the national bank's transactions with its customers, including courier services between financial institutions. However, national banks must receive approval from the OCC to establish a branch if the messenger service constitutes a branching function within the meaning of 12 USC 36(j). National banks may use a messenger service established and operated by a third party to collect from and deliver to its customers items that relate to a branching function, without regard to the branching limitations of 12 USC 36. 12 CFR 7.1012; Corporate Decision No. 2003-9 (June 25, 2003). National banks may also provide limited security guard escort service. Letter from Peter Lieberman, Assistant Director, Legal Advisory Services Division (October 5, 1983).
- Drop Boxes. Placement of United Parcel Service drop boxes at nonbranch offices of a bank does not make those offices branches within the meaning of 12 USC 36 because the boxes are owned by an independent third party, have no bank identification, and may be used by the general public for nonbanking transactions. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 980 (December 24, 2003).
- Historic Preservation. The OCC conditioned the approval of the establishment of a branch of a national bank on the bank's execution of a Memorandum of Agreement with the state, the state Historic Preservation Officer, and the OCC. The Agreement facilitated the bank's efforts in preserving the historic significance of the proposed branch building. Conditional Approval No. 601 (July 23, 2003).
- Interstate Branching. Laws enacted in some states that prohibit or restrict branching by out-of-state industrial loan companies into the enacting state have the effect of defeating those states' laws permitting interstate de novo branching into those states by banks generally. The result is that under the Riegle–Neal Interstate Banking and Branching Efficiency Act, federal regulators cannot approve the establishment of de novo branches in such states by any out-of-state bank. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1068 (July 28, 2006).
- Loan Approval and Misdirected Payments at LPOs. Loan approval and the occasional receipt of misdirected loan payments from customers may take place at a loan production office (LPO) without causing it to become a branch. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 902 (November 16, 2000).
- LPO/DPO/ATM Facilities Not Subject to State Branch Restrictions. A national bank's loan production offices (LPOs), deposit production offices (DPOs), and automated teller machine (ATM) facilities are not "branches" subject to 12 USC 36 and state law incorporated therein. In isolation or in combination, LPOs, DPOs, and ATMs are not branches and are not subject to state law restrictions on branching. None of these facilities perform any of the three core functions of banking, i.e., receiving deposits, paying checks, and lending money. First Nat'l Bank of McCook v. Fulkerson, No. 98-D-1024, 2000 WL 33914121 (D. Colo.

March 7, 2000).

- Messenger Service Branches. A national bank may only establish and operate a messenger service branch in locations where the bank could legally establish a permanent branch under applicable federal and state law and where notice of the proposed messenger service was published. A national bank receiving approval to open a messenger service branch must do so within 18 months of approval or receive an extension from the OCC. If the messenger branch service is closed, a 90-day advance notice of proposed branch closing must be given to the OCC. Corporate Decision No. 2012-10 (April 4, 2012).
- Remote Check-Scanning Terminal. A remote check-scanning terminal at a customer's location, which permits the customer to deposit checks electronically, is not a branch. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1036 (August 10, 2005).
- School Banking. A banking facility on the premises of a public high school is not considered a branch of the bank if: (i) the facility is located in the school and not owned by the bank; (ii) the facility only serves school students and faculty; (iii) the facility is operated by students and not bank personnel; and (iv) the school retains responsibility for deposits until they reach the bank. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 839 (August 3, 1998).
- Undercapitalization: Acquisitions, Branching, and New Lines of Business. An undercapitalized depository institution is prohibited from making acquisitions, establishing additional branch offices, or engaging in a new line of business unless either (1) the OCC accepts the institution's capital restoration plan, the plan is being implemented, and the OCC determines the proposed action will further the achievement of the plan, or (2) the board of directors of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) determines that the proposed action will further the purposes of the prompt corrective action taken. 12 USC 1831o(e)(4). A federal savings association that was undercapitalized and did not qualify for an exception under Section 1831o(e)(4) could not relocate a branch office eight miles from its current location because it would qualify as the establishment of a new branch under the statute. Corporate Decision No. 2015-07 (September 11, 2015).
- Underserved Communities. A national bank may establish branches for the sole purpose of serving an underserved community, and may acquire a non-controlling investment in a company that specializes in providing these services. Conditional Approval No. 612 (November 21, 2003).
- Use of Trade Names. Based on representations as to steps that would be taken to avoid customer confusion, a bank's operation of branches at Wal-Mart stores under a trade name was found to be consistent with Interagency Statement on Branch Names. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 977 (October 24, 2003).

Capital

- Applicability of Advanced Approaches Framework to Trust and Credit Card Banks and U.S. Branches of Foreign Banks. Under 12 CFR 3.100(b)(2), national banks subject to the Basel III Advanced Approaches Framework for calculating their capital requirements must use the framework unless the OCC determines, in writing, that the application of the framework is not appropriate in light of the asset size, level of complexity, risk profile, or scope of operations of the bank. The OCC determined that, subject to certain conditions, it would exempt certain trust and credit card banks and U.S. branches of foreign banks from the Basel framework because the framework would not meaningfully enhance the banks' overall risk management. The trust and credit card banks could be exempted from the Basel framework because the banks' risk exposures were already captured and recorded by the banks' affiliates that were subject to the framework, the banks lacked complexity, and the banks were not significant in size or business volume. Certain banks owned and controlled by a foreign banking organization could be exempted from the Basel framework because the risks posed by the activities of the banks were appropriately addressed by the generally applicable risk-based capital rules and by the advanced approaches capital requirements applied to them on a consolidated basis in their home jurisdiction. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1151 (September 29, 2014); OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1150 (September 29, 2014); OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1149 (September 29, 2014); OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1148 (September 29, 2014); OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1147 (September 29, 2014); OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1146 (September 29, 2014); OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1145 (September 29, 2014); OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1144 (September 29, 2014); OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1143 (September 29, 2014).

- Asset-Backed Commercial Paper Liquidity Facility Secured by Margin Loan Facilities. A national bank may apply a 10 percent credit conversion factor to an asset-backed commercial paper (ABCP) liquidity facility backed by margin loan facilities that have no maturity or external rating, provided that the liquidity facility has an original maturity of one year or less. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1099 (May 11, 2007).
- California Registered Warrants. The California Attorney General opined that these warrants are valid and binding obligations of the state. Interagency guidance states that because they share the same expected source of repayment, the warrants generally have the same credit quality characteristics as the state's other general obligations. For risk-based capital purposes, general obligation claims on a state receive a 20 percent risk weight. As with any obligation issued by a jurisdiction, financial institutions should exercise prudent judgment and sound risk management practices with respect to the warrants. Interagency Guidance on California Registered Warrants (July 8, 2009).
- Conversion Factor for Asset-Backed Commercial Paper Liquidity Facility. The following are eligibility requirements for assignment of a favorable credit conversion factor to asset-backed commercial paper (ABCP) liquidity facilities: (1) external ratings issued by Nationally Recognized Statistical Rating Organizations (NRSRO) must be published in accessible public form and monitored by the NRSRO; private ratings do not qualify; (2) if the liquidity facility supports privately-rated or unrated asset-backed securities (ABS), a bank may look through to the underlying assets if aging analyses and information on the relevant credit enhancements are available; (3) when the underlying assets are Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD) central government-guaranteed assets, the liquidity would be deemed eligible; and (4) in both cases, the risk weight would be subject to a 20 percent floor. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1098 (March 1, 2007).

- FSA Inclusion of Subordinated Debt in Regulatory Capital. With OCC approval, a wholly-owned subsidiary of a federal savings association may include an issuance of subordinated debt in its regulatory capital. To include the subordinated debt in its supplementary (Tier 2) capital, the OCC evaluates the savings association's application, the accompanying offering circular, and other materials supplied by the association's representatives. The OCC may also waive 12 CFR Part 197 regulations applicable to offerings of securities by federal savings associations and allow the association to offer securities subject to the requirements applicable to national banks under 12 CFR 16.6. Corporate Decision No. 2014-03 (June 17, 2014); Corporate Decision No. 2014-04 (June 17, 2014). [Editor's note: In 2017, the Part 197 securities offering disclosure rules formerly applicable to federal savings associations were merged into the Part 16 securities offering disclosure rules applicable to national banks. The amendments make Part 16 applicable to both national banks and federal savings associations and remove Part 197.]
- Government-Sponsored Entities (GSE) Preferred Stock. Pursuant to the OCC's risk-based capital guidelines, preferred stock issued by a GSE falls within the meaning of the term "security" and qualifies for a 20 percent risk weight. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 964 (March 17, 2003).
- Margin Loans. The OCC and the Federal Reserve Board issued a joint opinion that for risk-based capital purposes, a liquidity facility should be considered an eligible asset-backed commercial paper (ABCP) liquidity facility so long as the liquidity provider is only permitted to purchase margin loan facilities from the conduit at par if the market value of the collateral exceeds the outstanding loan balance by 25 percent. The risk-based capital treatment would be: apply a 10 percent credit conversion factor to the unused amount of the commitment with an original maturity of one year or less and assign a 100 percent risk weight to the resulting credit equivalent assets based on the nature of the obligor and collateral. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1099 (May 11, 2007).
- Margin Loans. A national bank may use an alternative approach to calculate its capital requirement for certain eligible bank margin loans to customers for the purpose of buying or carrying margin stock. Under the alternative approach, the bank may assign a 10 percent risk weight to the principal amount of such loans provided that (1) the securities collateral of such loans are liquid and readily marketable; (2) the loans and associated collateral are marked to market daily; (3) the loans are subject to the initial margin requirements under Regulation T and daily margin maintenance requirements under New York Stock Exchange Rule 431; and (4) the bank has conducted a sufficient legal review to conclude that it would be able to liquidate the collateral for the loans without undue delay, even in the event of the borrower's bankruptcy or insolvency. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1104 (September 18, 2008).
- Merchant Processing Intangibles (MPI). The OCC determines that MPIs generally fail to satisfy the separability, valuation, and marketability criteria, and therefore, the list of qualifying intangible assets should not be expanded to include MPIs. Consequently, MPIs must be deducted from Tier 1 capital and assets in calculating the bank's risk-based capital ratio. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 990 (October 17, 2003).

- Mortgage Loans Modified Under the Home Affordable Mortgage Program. The federal bank and thrift regulatory agencies issued a final rule providing that mortgage loans modified under the U.S. Department of the Treasury's Home Affordable Mortgage Program (HAMP) will generally retain the risk weight appropriate to the mortgage loan before modification. The agencies adopted as final their interim final rule issued on June 30, 2009, with one modification. The final rule clarifies that mortgage loans whose HAMP modifications are in the trial period, and not yet permanent, qualify for the risk-based capital treatment contained in the rule. 74 Fed. Reg. 60137 (November 20, 2009).
- Multifamily Residential Mortgage Property Annual Net Operating Income Requirements. The actual operating income of a multifamily residential property must be used by the bank in order to determine whether a loan secured by a first mortgage on a multifamily residential property would satisfy the annual net operating income requirements, and therefore, qualify for the 50 percent risk weight under the risk-based capital guidelines. An operating statement prepared by a qualified asset manager (not based on the actual operating income of the property) would not satisfy the annual net operating income requirements. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 989 (August 18, 2003).
- Private Ratings. The OCC and the Federal Reserve Board issued a joint opinion that concluded that, for risk-based capital purposes, private ratings do not qualify as external ratings for purposes of determining eligibility for liquidity facilities that support asset-backed commercial paper (ABCP) conduit assets under the asset quality test. However, in the absence of an acceptable external rating, a bank may, in certain instances, look through asset-backed securities to the underlying assets to determine the eligibility of an ABCP liquidity facility. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1098 (March 1, 2007).
- Regulatory Capital—Alternative Approach to Calculating Risk-Based Capital for Securities Lending Transactions. A bank may use, pursuant to the reservation of authority for case-by-case determinations contained in the OCC's risk-based capital regulations, an alternative calculation based on the bank's value-at-risk (VAR) model to determine the risk-based capital charge for certain securities lending transactions. Under the VAR approach, the risk-based capital charge would be based on a measure of economic exposure that takes into account the market value of collateral received and security lent, as well as the market price volatilities of both the securities lent by the bank and received as collateral. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1066 (November 8, 2005).
- Regulatory Capital—Commitment to Issue a Letter of Credit. Under risk-based capital guidelines, a multipurpose loan commitment with an option to draw a part of the commitment only as a trade letter of credit, is subject to an off-balance sheet item credit conversion factor (CCF) based on the lower of the CCF for a commitment with the same original maturity or a trade letter of credit. However, where the sub-limits for the types of credit available under the multipurpose commitment overlap, the highest CCF must be applied to the maximum draws for risk-based capital purposes. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1049 (January 17, 2006).

- Regulatory Capital—Multipurpose Loan Commitment. Under risk-based capital guidelines, a bank may apply a credit conversion factor (CCF) for a multipurpose loan commitment where the borrower draws down the credit in several forms (such as a revolving loan, a term loan, or a standby letter of credit), according to the original maturity of the commitment, unless a third-party asset has been identified with respect to the exercise of the commitment as a standby letter of credit. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1057 (June 14, 2005).
- Regulatory Capital—Structured Second Mortgages. Second mortgages do not meet the definition of a recourse arrangement even when the first and second mortgages are made to the same borrower simultaneously. The agencies (OCC, Federal Reserve Board, FDIC, and OTS) view the second mortgage as a separate transaction that does not—in and of itself—serve as a credit enhancement. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1058 (April 20, 2005).
- Risk-Based Capital Treatment for Bank Exposure to Intercontinental Exchange U.S. Trust (ICE Trust). As a result of their dealings with ICE Trust, national banks have three types of exposures: (1) counterparty credit exposure arising from cleared credit default swap transactions; (2) exposures from margin posted as collateral for the transactions; and (3) exposure from a required contribution to the clearinghouse guarantee fund. Because of the regulated nature of ICE Trust and other prudential factors, the OCC has determined that the risk-based capital treatment provided under the risk-based capital rules does not appropriately reflect the risks of transactions with ICE Trust. Therefore, the OCC has determined to use its reservation of authority at 12 CFR 3A(b) to apply a 20 percent risk weight to these three types of exposures, a risk weight the OCC believes more appropriately reflects the risk associated with these exposures. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1116 (May 6, 2009).
- Second Liens in Structured Mortgage Transactions. Letter clarifies the joint final rule on the “Capital Treatment of Recourse, Direct Credit Substitutes, and Residual Interests in Asset Securitizations,” 66 Fed. Reg. 59621 (November 29, 2001), and concludes that second mortgages liens will not, in most instances, constitute recourse because they generally do not function as credit enhancements. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 987 (March 17, 2003).
- Securities Lending and Conduit Securities Lending Transitions. A national bank may use the value-at-risk (VAR) approach to calculate a bank’s risk-based capital for securities lending and conduit securities lending transactions. To be an eligible transaction, the bank must be acting as agent or intermediary in a riskless principal transaction; the transaction must be fully collateralized; any securities borrowed, lent or taken as collateral must be eligible for inclusion in the trading book and be liquid and readily marketable; any securities borrowed, lent or taken as collateral must be marked-to-market daily; and the transactions must be subject to daily margin maintenance requirements. Before the bank may use the VAR approach to determine its risk-based capital requirements for these transactions, the examiner-in-charge must make a determination that the bank’s VAR model and risk management practices comply with certain specified conditions. The bank also will be subject to ongoing supervisory review of its model. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1105 (September 18, 2008).

- Synthetic Securitizations of Residential Mortgage Loans. Determination by the OCC and the Federal Reserve Board staff that the principles established in Joint Agency Guidance on Synthetic Collateralized Loan Obligations (November 15, 1999) and a final rule, “Capital Treatment of Recourse, Direct Credit Substitutes, and Residual Interests in Asset Securitizations,” 66 Fed. Reg. 59621 (November 29, 2001), may be applied to a synthetic securitization. The agencies modified some of the risk management, measurement, and disclosure requirements established in their 1999 guidance. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 988 (July 28, 2003).
- Tax Refund Anticipation Loans. Tax refund anticipation loans should be risk-weighted at 100 percent, as they are not directly or indirectly guaranteed by the U.S. government or its agencies and are, therefore, ineligible to receive a lower risk weight. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 959 (February 13, 2003).

Consulting and Financial Advice

- Financial Adviser, in General. National banks may provide financial, investment, or economic advisory services, including advising an investment company (as defined in Section 3 of the Investment Company Act of 1940). 12 USC 24(Seventh). The following are examples of these services:
 - Adviser for Mortgage or Real Estate Investment Trusts. National banks may serve as the advisory company for a mortgage or real estate investment trust. 12 CFR 5.34(e)(5)(v)(I).
 - Benefits Counseling. A national bank’s operating subsidiary may provide Medicare and Medicaid counseling to customers and collect and disburse insurance benefit payments. Corporate Decision No. 98-13 (February 9, 1998).
 - Business Services for Banks or Their Affiliates. National banks may furnish services for their internal operations or the operations of their affiliates, including accounting, auditing, appraising, advertising and public relations, data processing and data transmission services, databases, or facilities. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 513, reprinted in [1990-1991 Transfer Binder] Fed. Banking L. Rep. (CCH) ¶ 83,215 (June 18, 1990).
 - Consumer Financial Counseling. National banks may provide consumer financial counseling. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 137, reprinted in [1981-1982 Transfer Binder] Fed. Banking L. Rep. (CCH) ¶ 85,218 (December 27, 1979); Letter from Judith A. Walter, Senior Deputy Comptroller for National Operations (July 17, 1986); OCC Interpretive Letter No. 367, reprinted in [1985-1987 Transfer Binder] Fed. Banking L. Rep. (CCH) ¶ 85,537 (August 19, 1986); 12 CFR 5.34(e)(5)(v)(I); 12 CFR 9.101.
 - Credit Card Registration and Notification Services. A national bank operating a subsidiary may engage in credit card registration and notification services. The subsidiary would also provide other services including a price protection service, a referral service for customers to third parties who offer extended warranty programs for various products, a free credit report annually, a newsletter containing consumer credit suggestions, and reimbursement for locksmith services. Conditional Approval No. 535 (June 21, 2002).

- Economic Analysis. National banks may furnish general economic information and advice, economic statistical forecasting services, and industry studies. 12 CFR 5.34(e)(5)(v)(I).
- Employee Benefit and Payroll Business. A national bank may hold a non-controlling equity investment in a company that provides employee benefit and payroll services to small community banks and their small business customers. The investment was incidental to the bank's business because it involved preparing and conveying financial information to the bank's customers and the bank's employees. The investment would also benefit the bank's small business customers by providing services to them that would not be cost efficient for those customers to provide for themselves. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 909 (May 2, 2001).
- Employee Benefit, Compensation Advisory, and Human Resource Services. A national bank operating subsidiary may provide employee benefit, compensation advisory and related administrative services, and other human resources services to the bank's business customers and other businesses in the bank's market area. Corporate Decision No. 2002-2 (January 9, 2002).
- Employee Benefits. National banks may offer employee benefit consulting services (including health benefit consulting) to corporations wishing to establish qualified benefit plans and relocation consulting for employees of a bank or its affiliates, or customers of the bank. Corporate Decision No. 98-51 (November 30, 1998). A national bank's operating subsidiary may also provide Medicare and Medicaid counseling to customers and collect and disburse insurance benefit payments. Corporate Decision No. 98-13 (February 9, 1998).
- Employee Relocation Benefit Consulting Service. A national bank's operating subsidiary may provide employee relocation benefit consulting services to small- and medium-sized business customers of the bank and its employees. The service consists of financial planning and counseling, mortgage lending, and acting as a finder, each of which is a permissible banking activity. Corporate Decision No. 99-43 (November 29, 1999).
- Financial Consulting and Advisory Services. National banks may engage in financial consulting and advisory services for other financial institutions and the general public, including, among other things, acting as a conduit in conveying loan terms to prospective borrowers or purchasers, supplying financial information regarding a third party, or engaging on behalf of others in research in contemplation of prospective transactions. 12 USC 24(Seventh), 92a; OCC Interpretive Letter No. 238, reprinted in [1983-1984 Transfer Binder] Fed. Banking L. Rep. (CCH) ¶ 85,402 (February 9, 1982).
- Financial Planning and Insurance. A national bank may sell a small amount of long-term care and disability insurance and group health, medical, and dental insurance plans in connection with the comprehensive financial planning and employee benefits consulting services offered by the national bank. Letter from Julie L. Williams, Chief Counsel (January 19, 1999); Letter from Julie L. Williams, Chief Counsel (December 30, 1997).

- Fiscal Planning Advice to Municipalities. National banks may offer fiscal planning advice on such questions as the timing and structure of bond issues to municipalities. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 122, reprinted in [1981-1982 Transfer Binder] Fed. Banking L. Rep. (CCH) ¶ 85,203 (August 1, 1979). National banks may also offer financial advice regarding public offerings of debt or equity, private placements, sale-leasebacks, and purchases and sales of companies. Letter from J.T. Watson, Deputy Comptroller (July 22, 1974).
- Human Resources Services. A national bank’s operating subsidiary may provide human resources and related services to small business clients, including: acting as co-employer of customers’ employees (employee “leasing”); payroll processing; employee benefits consulting and human resources administrative services; compliance administration and safety and risk management; the sale of certain insurance products to employees through an insurance agency subsidiary; and insurance-related administrative services. Conditional Approval No. 384 (April 25, 2000).
- Investment Advisor May Hold Special Equity Interests. A national bank’s operating subsidiary may receive compensation for management and performance fees in the form of a special limited interest profit allocation in the private investment funds for which it serves as investment manager and advisor. Conditional Approval No. 578 (February 27, 2003).
- Loss Notification and Credit Monitoring Services. A national bank may provide its customers with credit card loss notification services. This letter also approves, for the first time, providing credit scores, credit reports, and credit monitoring services to customers. It also approves providing customers with access to their Social Security, medical, and records of motor vehicle violations as activities that are incidental to banking. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 944 (August 12, 2002).
- Part of, or Incidental to, Investment Advisory Services. A national bank’s investment management operating subsidiary may hold a small interest in certain investment funds, subject to limitations, but only when the holding is necessary to conduct permissible investment advisory activities. Investors in these funds require investment advisors to hold small interests to enhance the alignment of interests between advisors and investors. Certain amounts of the funds may consist of bank-ineligible financial instruments, including equity securities. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 897 (October 23, 2000); Letter from Julie L. Williams, First Senior Deputy Comptroller and Chief Counsel (October 1, 1999).
- Reporting of Officer and Employee Securities Transactions. Certain affiliate banks are granted a waiver from 12 CFR Part 12’s requirement that bank officers and employees who make investment recommendations or decisions for customers must report their personal transactions in securities to the bank within 10 business days after the end of the calendar quarter. The letter concludes that it is the OCC's intention to administer Section 12.7(a)(4) in a fashion consistent with comparable Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) Rule 17j-1, which requires such reports within 30 days after the end of the calendar quarter. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1062 (April 24, 2006).

- Tax Services. National banks may provide tax planning and preparation services. 12 USC 24(Seventh); 12 CFR 5.34(e)(5)(v)(J); Conditional Approval No. 1080 (September 27, 2013).
- Transactional Advice, in General. National banks may provide financial and transactional advice to customers and assist customers in structuring, arranging, and executing various financial transactions. 12 USC 24(Seventh). The following are examples of these services:
 - Commercial Real Estate Equity Financing. National banks may arrange for commercial real estate equity financing. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 387, reprinted in [1988-1989 Transfer Binder] Fed. Banking L. Rep. (CCH) ¶ 85,611 (June 22, 1987); OCC Interpretive Letter No. 271, reprinted in [1983-1984 Transfer Binder] Fed. Banking L. Rep. (CCH) ¶ 85,435 (September 21, 1983).
 - Economic Research. National banks may conduct financial feasibility studies. 12 USC 24(Seventh).
 - Mergers, Acquisitions, Divestitures, Joint Ventures, Leveraged Buyouts, Recapitalizations, Capital Structurings, Public and Private Financings, Loan Syndications, and Financial Transactions. National banks may provide financial and transactional advice in connection with the previously mentioned activities. 12 USC 24(Seventh); 12 CFR 9.101.
 - Messenger Service. A national bank may provide consulting and advisory services to deposit customers who hire independent messenger or courier services to transport banking items to and from the bank. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1023 (February 24, 2005).
 - “Welfare-to-Work” Counseling. A national bank's operating subsidiary may acquire a company engaged in providing government “welfare-to-work” counseling. The acquired company counsels welfare-to-work program beneficiaries on work skills and program benefits, connects them with potential employers, and handles payments from the sponsoring government agency to employers and employees participating in the program. Corporate Governance and Structure

- Acquisition of a Failed Trust Bank by a Bank Without Fiduciary Powers. If a national bank without fiduciary powers acquires a failed trust bank and seeks to continue operating the trust bank, the OCC must approve a proposal by the acquiring national bank to exercise fiduciary powers pursuant to 12 USC 92a. The board of directors for the national bank must provide for the establishment and administration of the trust department (or fiduciary operation) by amending its bylaws or by appropriate resolution. Furthermore, the board should also provide a proper delineation of duties for trust officers and committees, adhere to 12 CFR Part 9 self-dealing and conflicts of interest provisions, and designate officers or employees responsible for custody of trust investments. Corporate Decision No. 2012-03 (January 27, 2012).

- Acquisition of Assets and Assumption of Deposits. An application by JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A., to acquire certain assets and assume certain liabilities from the Bank of New York was approved. In connection with the exchange transaction, JPMorgan Chase acquired 339 Bank of New York branches. CRA Decision No. 136 (September 15, 2006).
- Bank Holding Company Formation. A national bank may undertake reorganization pursuant to 12 USC 215a-2 and 12 CFR 7.2000(a), which provide a streamlined process for a national bank to form a bank holding company or for an existing holding company to acquire an unaffiliated national bank through an exchange of the bank's stock for cash or securities of the bank holding company. Corporate Decision No. 2001-21 (July 26, 2001).
- Bank Merger Act. The OCC, along with the other federal financial institution regulators, issued a joint opinion concluding that the Bank Merger Act is not applicable to the acquisition of a credit card portfolio containing some credit balances by a financial institution from another financial institution, provided that the credit balances represent less than 1 percent of the value of the credit card receivables transferred and the selling institution is in compliance with Section 165 of the Truth in Lending Act. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1083 (May 3, 2007).
- Bank Ownership by Native American Tribes. A national bank consolidated with an interim bank to effect the acquisition of the bank by a holding company that is jointly owned by a number of federally recognized Native American tribes. This is the only bank that is owned by a consortium of Indian tribes and tribal corporations. The decision contains an extensive list of special conditions, requirements, and directors' oaths that were tailored specifically for this bank because of its tribal ownership structure. Conditional Approval No. 493 (September 28, 2001).
- Blank Check Preferred Stock. Consistent with 12 CFR 7.2000(b), a national bank that had elected in its bylaws to be governed by California law may issue blank check preferred stock. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 921 (December 13, 2001).
- Bank Merger Act Risk to Stability of U.S. Banking System. In considering whether a transaction covered by the Bank Merger Act poses a risk to the stability of the U.S. banking or financial system, pursuant to 12 USC 1828(c)(5), the OCC considers: (1) whether the proposed transaction would result in a material increase in risks to financial system stability due to an increase in size of the combining firms; (2) whether the transaction would result in a reduction in the availability of substitute providers for the services offered by the combining firms; (3) whether the transaction would materially increase the extent of the interconnectedness of the financial system; (4) whether the transaction would materially increase the extent to which the combining firms contribute to the complexity of the financial system; (5) whether the transaction would materially increase the extent of cross-border activities of the combining firms; and (6) the relative degree of difficulty of resolving the combined firm. Corporate Decision No. 2012-05 (January 11, 2012).

- Capital Reduction With Voluntary Liquidation. A national bank that has discontinued banking operations may reduce its permanent capital provided that the disbursement of capital is made pursuant to a plan of voluntary liquidation. Conditional Approval No. 410 (August 20, 2000).
- CBCA Filings; Execution of Enforceable Agreements. The OCC may determine that Change in Bank Control Act (CBCA) standards warrant a CBCA filer with the Federal Reserve Board to execute an enforceable agreement with the OCC. In certain circumstances, the OCC may require an agreement that imposes substantive requirements equivalent to conditions and reopening requirements that apply to a de novo bank application. Corporate Decision No. 2005-08 (June 22, 2005); Corporate Decision No. 2005-09 (June 29, 2005).
- Change in Asset Composition. A national bank must seek prior approval from the OCC for a fundamental change in its asset composition pursuant to 12 CFR 5.53. A national bank received approval to sell all of its deposit liabilities and substantially all of its assets to an unrelated financial institution. The federal deposit insurance status of the national bank was to be immediately terminated after the deposit sale, and the bank would cease its existence by merging into its nonbank affiliate pursuant to 12 USC 215a-3. Conditional Approval No. 662 (October 28, 2004).
- Change in Bank Control Pursuant to Bankruptcy Reorganization. The OCC did not disapprove a change in control notice in connection with a proposed acquisition. The bank was a national trust bank engaged in the provision of fiduciary services to General Motors Corporation (GM) and its current and former employees. As part of the bankruptcy reorganization of GM, all of the shares of the bank's parent company were transferred to a newly formed parent corporation. The OCC required the newly formed parent to cause the bank to enter into a written operating agreement with the OCC. Conditional Approval No. 909 (July 2, 2009).
- Charter Conversion Restriction Related to Capital Maintenance Agreement. A capital maintenance agreement (CMA), a written agreement entered into within the meaning and for the purposes of Section 8 of the Federal Deposit Insurance Act, is the type of enforcement action within the supervisory process that Section 612 of the Dodd–Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act was enacted to protect. Section 612(c) of the Act provides that a federal savings association may not convert to a state bank or state savings association during any period in which the federal savings association is subject to a cease and desist order (or other formal enforcement order) issued by, or a memorandum of understanding entered into with, the Office of Thrift Supervision or the Comptroller of the Currency with respect to a significant supervisory matter. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1136 (December 21, 2011).
- Conversion of a Colorado Federal Savings Bank and Merger. A federal savings bank

(FSB) owned by Bank of America Corporation applied to convert to a national bank charter. The OCC granted conditional approval for conversion of the FSB to a national bank charter and to Bank of America to acquire by merger the national bank resulting from the conversion. The transaction resulted in the retention of the bank's main office and branches and the main office of the FSB in Colorado as a branch, as well as several subsidiaries of the FSB. The OCC determined that the transaction met the age requirements of the Riegle–Neal Interstate Banking and Branching Efficiency Act, and stated that a bank's relocation from one state to another, and prior existence as an FSB, did not affect its age. Conditional Approval No. 900 (April 23, 2009).

- Conversion of a Federal Savings Bank and Merger. A federal savings bank, insured by the FDIC and wholly owned by Capital One Financial Corporation, applied to convert to a national bank and retain its main office and branches in Delaware, the District of Columbia, Maryland, and Virginia. The OCC granted conditional approval for the conversion and for merger of the converted bank into Capital One, N.A. The OCC determined that the converted bank could retain all branches operated before the Gramm–Leach–Bliley Act on November 12, 1999, finding that relevant state statutory standards for the branch retentions were satisfied, and further that, following the merger, the acquiring bank could retain branches in Delaware, the District of Columbia, Maryland, and Virginia under state intrastate branching laws as applied to national banks with respect to the establishment of branches. The resulting bank could also retain entities owned by the FSB as operating, financial, and statutory subsidiaries, but was required to divest an indirect non-controlling investment in limited liability companies formed by a consortium of custom home builders to assist in the group purchases of building supplies and material. Conditional Approval No. 912 (July 14, 2009).
- Conversion of a Federal Savings Bank to a National Bank. The OCC approved the conversion of Morgan Stanley Trust, FSB, to a national bank, Morgan Stanley Private Bank, N.A. The OCC recognized that the resulting national bank's product delivery structure would be different from that of most banks that are subject to the OCC's large bank Community Reinvestment Act (CRA) examination procedures. Therefore, the approval was conditioned on the bank periodically providing reports to the OCC describing the products, services, investments, advisory services, volunteer and other outreach efforts provided by the bank and by its direct and indirect parent companies, affiliates and subsidiaries in low- and moderate-income areas of the United States, outside of the bank's CRA assessment area, that were located within geographies from which the bank drew a material portion of its deposits obtained through, or facilitated by the Morgan Stanley brokerage offices, including any deposit production offices or loan production offices located in or near the site of any of the brokerage offices. CRA Decision No. 147 (June 28, 2010).
- Deferred Share Units. Deferred share units of a national bank's holding company were found to be the equivalent of stock of the bank holding company and therefore qualified as an "equivalent interest" under the qualifying share requirement of 12 USC 72. Under Section 72, a national bank director is required to hold a financial stake in the operations of the bank (or its parent company) so that the director will have an incentive to be vigilant in protecting the bank's interests. The deferred share units were found to have characteristics of and to create financial incentives similar to equity interests. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1087

(September 5, 2007).

- Directors' Qualifying Shares. National bank directors may meet the qualifying shares requirement under 12 USC 72 by purchasing trust preferred stock issued by a subsidiary of the bank's holding company. This offers bank directors a new means of obtaining a financial stake in the bank in addition to purchasing bank stock. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1020 (February 8, 2005).
- Election of Corporate Governance Provisions of the Model Business Corporation Act. A national bank may adopt corporate governance provisions of the Model Business Corporation Act (MBCA) and engage in a share exchange to ensure that its newly formed parent holding company will own 100 percent of the bank. MBCA provisions allowing share exchanges are not inconsistent with applicable federal banking statutes or regulations. A national bank conducting a share exchange under the MBCA must provide adequate dissenters' rights that are substantially similar, although not necessarily identical, to those in 12 USC 215a. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 891 (April 26, 2000).
- Election of Virginia Corporate Governance Provisions. A national bank may elect the corporate governance provisions of Virginia law and complete a share exchange in accordance with those provisions. Virginia state law allowing share exchanges is not inconsistent with applicable federal banking statutes or regulations. A national bank conducting a share exchange must provide adequate dissenters' rights that are substantially similar, although not necessarily identical, to those in 12 USC 215a. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 879 (November 10, 1999).
- Emergency Purchase and Assumption of National Bank Under Bank Merger Act and Riegle-Neal Act. The OCC approved the purchase and assumption by a national bank in North Dakota of certain assets and liabilities of a failed bank in South Dakota. The national bank in North Dakota retained a branch of the failed bank in Minnesota and immediately resold the failed bank's other assets and liabilities to a national bank in South Dakota. The transaction qualified for immediate consummation under the emergency provisions of the Bank Merger Act. Similarly, the normal requirements for an interstate acquisition under the Riegle-Neal Interstate Banking and Branching Efficiency Act did not apply when the target bank had failed. Corporate Decision No. 2009-07 (July 17, 2009); Corporate Decision No. 2009-08 (July 17, 2009).
- Emergency Purchase and Assumption of Federal Savings Bank Under Bank Merger Act and Riegle-Neal Act. The OCC approved the purchase and assumption by a national bank in Ohio of certain assets and liabilities of a failed bank in Indiana. The transaction qualified for immediate consummation under the emergency provisions of the Bank Merger Act. Similarly, the normal requirements for an interstate acquisition under the Riegle-Neal Interstate Banking and Branching Efficiency Act did not apply when the target bank had failed. The OCC also approved the Ohio national bank's purchase and assumption of certain assets and liabilities of a failed federal savings bank (FSB) in Indiana and retention of its branches. Although the FSB was not a "bank" for purposes of the Riegle-Neal Act, the interstate purchase and assumption was authorized by 12 USC 24(Seventh). Retention by the Ohio national bank of the failed FSB branches in several states was also approved. Retention of branches in one state was authorized by 12 USC 36, while the FDIC used its authority under 12 USC 823(k) to approve the retention of branches in other states. Corporate Decision No. 2009-17 (September 18, 2009).

- Expansion of Scope of Trust Company Activities. An application to expand the scope of activities of HSBC Trust Company, N.A. from a limited purpose trust company to include loans and deposits related to tax refunds was preliminarily approved on a conditional basis. Expansion to a full service charter subjects the bank to the Community Reinvestment Act. Conditions include, among other items, obtaining federal deposit insurance and establishing a mystery shopper program and a comprehensive compliance program for the bank's refund anticipation loan program. CRA Decision No. 137 (September 29, 2006).
- FDIC-Guaranteed Senior Unsecured Debt Under the Temporary Liquidity Guarantee Program. The exemption from registration under 12 CFR 16.5(a) is applicable to FDIC-guaranteed senior unsecured debt that matures on or before June 30, 2012, the expiration date of the FDIC's guarantee under the Temporary Liquidity Guarantee Program. The exemption would not apply to such debt with a maturity that extends beyond June 30, 2012. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1108 (January 26, 2009).
- Federal Savings Association Conversion to a State Bank or State Savings Association, Ongoing Enforcement Action. Under 12 USC 1464(i)(6), a federal savings association may not convert to a state bank or state savings association when it "is subject to a cease and desist order, (or other formal enforcement order) issued by, or a memorandum of understanding entered into with, the Office of Thrift Supervision or the Comptroller of the Currency with respect to a significant supervisory matter." A capital maintenance agreement approved by the OTS is a formal enforcement action. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1136 (December 21, 2011).
- Healthcare Receivables Management. A bank received approval to establish an operating subsidiary to offer services to manage healthcare receivable and disbursement processes, and to assist employers, insurers, and third-party administrators with benefits administration. A healthcare receivables manager service that automates the case application process for bank customers who are healthcare providers, such as doctors and hospitals, and provides them with an electronic remittance system to expedite payments, is a financial processing activity and thus is permissible as part of or incidental to the business of banking. Corporate Decision No. 2006-05 (June 16, 2006).
- Inflatable Charters. Through the filing of a change in bank control notice, the OCC did not disapprove a change in ownership or control of an existing national bank. Similar to the shelf charter concept, this is another tool used by the OCC to expand the pool of qualified bidders for troubled and failed national banks. The new ownership's plans could include repositioning the assets and liabilities of the bank through a purchase and assumption, downsizing, or relocating to a suitable market. The OCC imposed certain safeguards on the new owners and the bank in order to protect the safety and soundness of the national bank. Conditional Approval No. 872 (August 27, 2008).

- Internal Reorganization and Consolidation of Banking and Credit Card Operations. Citigroup, Inc., in a series of 12 different applications and notices that included changes in bank control, mergers and thrift conversions, and internally restructuring a number of its affiliates. The result was the consolidation of the domestic commercial and retail banking operations into Citibank, N.A., New York, N.Y., and the relocation of the head office to Las Vegas, Nev. Also, the restructure resulted in the credit card operations being consolidated into Citibank (South Dakota), N.A., Sioux Falls, S.D. Corporate Decision No. 2006-08 (August 3, 2006).
- International Trade Management Services by an Operating Subsidiary. As part of an OCC approval of the acquisition of a corporation as an operating subsidiary of a national bank, the agency found that a number of international trade-related services were either part of, or incidental to, the business of banking. The corporation's activities include maintaining a database of trade-related information for customer access and providing global supply chain management services to customers. Corporate Decision No. 2005-02 (March 24, 2005).
- Internet Banking Services. A national bank received approval to establish a wholly owned operating subsidiary to provide Internet access and dial-up Internet service provider (ISP) services to its customers and nonbank customers as part of its package of Internet banking services. However, the bank may not sell ISP services to nonbank customers unless it demonstrates regulatory compliance and obtains the OCC's prior approval. Conditional Approval No. 733 (February 16, 2006).
- Interstate De Novo Branch Approval Based on Reciprocity Applicable to a Predecessor Bank. The OCC approved the establishment of a de novo branch in Rhode Island by a Delaware national bank. Because the Delaware national bank was the resulting bank of a merger that included a national bank in Maine, and Maine and Rhode Island allow reciprocal interstate branching, establishment of the branch was found to be permissible. Corporate Decision No. 2009-19 (October 22, 2009).
- Interstate Merger Between Banks. A national bank may merge with another bank in an interstate transaction under 12 USC 215a-1 and 1831u. Such a transaction must be approved by the OCC under the Riegle–Neal Interstate Banking and Branching Efficiency Act (Riegle–Neal). A proposed interstate merger is also subject to the Bank Merger Act (BMA) and the Community Reinvestment Act (CRA). BMA criteria for evaluating the transaction include the potential to substantially lessen competition, the financial and managerial resources of the banks involved, their future prospects, the convenience and needs of the communities to be served, the effectiveness of any involved insured depository institution in combatting money laundering activities, and the risk the transaction imposes on the stability of the U.S. banking or financial system. When a transaction is subject to the BMA, the CRA also requires the OCC to take into account the applicants' record of helping to meet the credit needs of the community and consider it as a factor in approving or denying the application. Corporate Decision No. 2012-05 (January 11, 2012).
- Interstate Merger Under 12 USC 215a. The OCC conditionally approved an application to merge Bank Midwest, N.A., Kansas City, Missouri, with and into Armed Forces Bank, N.A., Fort Leavenworth, Kansas. The OCC determined that the merger qualified as a merger of banking associations located within the same state under 12 USC 215a, because both the Armed Forces Bank main office and a branch of Bank Midwest were located in Kansas. The OCC also determined that the financial and managerial resources of the banks and their future prospects were consistent with approval of this merger, as provided for under the Bank Merger Act, because the transaction would result in a substantial influx of capital to the resulting bank, along with Bank Midwest's entire allowance for loan and lease losses and other beneficial results, allowing Armed Forces Bank to continue to serve military personnel on their bases and customers at lower-cost branch sites. Conditional Approval No. 980 (November 15, 2010).

- Interstate Merger With a National Bank Pursuant to a Chapter 11 Bankruptcy Proceeding. Under 12 USC 215a-1 and 1831u, a national bank may merge with another national bank in an interstate transaction pursuant to a Chapter 11 bankruptcy proceeding in an interstate bank merger. Although the Riegle–Neal Interstate Banking and Branching Efficiency Act typically requires certain conditions to be met for an interstate merger, these conditions are waived under Section 1831u(e) if a bank involved in the transaction is in danger of default. The proposed merger, however, remains subject to the criteria of the Bank Merger Act and the Community Reinvestment Act. Corporate Decision No. 2013-01 (April 4, 2013).
- Interstate Purchase and Assumption Transaction Involving a Failed Depository Institution. A national bank may purchase certain assets and assume certain liabilities from a failed depository institution under 12 USC 24(Seventh) and 1828(c). A national bank in one state seeking to purchase and assume certain assets and liabilities of a failed depository institution in another state and retain all of the failed bank's branches must be approved by the OCC under the Riegle–Neal Interstate Banking and Branching Efficiency Act (Riegle–Neal). While Riegle–Neal typically requires certain conditions to be met for an interstate merger (including mergers by means of a purchase and assumption transaction), these conditions are waived under 12 USC 1831u(e) if a bank involved in the transaction is in danger of default or the FDIC has provided assistance to a bank involved in the transaction under 12 USC 1823(c). The proposed merger, however, remains subject to the criteria of the Bank Merger Act and the Community Reinvestment Act. Corporate Decision No. 2013-03 (April 26, 2013).
- Interstate Purchase and Assumption Transaction Involving Another National Bank. A national bank may purchase certain assets and assume certain liabilities from a depository institution under 12 USC 24(Seventh) and 1828(c). A national bank in one state seeking to purchase and assume certain assets and liabilities of a national bank in another state and retain all of the bank's branches must be approved by the OCC under the Riegle–Neal Interstate Banking and Branching Efficiency Act. The purchase and assumption transaction is also subject to the criteria of the Bank Merger Act and the Community Reinvestment Act. Corporate Decision No. 2013-05 (June 20, 2013).
- Intrastate Purchase and Assumption Transaction Involving a Failed Depository

Institution. A national bank may purchase certain assets and assume certain liabilities from a failed depository institution located in the same state under 12 USC 24(Seventh) and 1828(c). A national bank seeking to purchase and assume certain assets and liabilities of a failed depository institution and retain all of the failed bank's branches after consummating the transaction must be approved by the OCC under the Bank Merger Act and the Community Reinvestment Act. Corporate Decision No. 2014-07 (November 7, 2014).

- Issuance of Common Stock Below Par Value. A national bank may issue shares of its common stock at an issue price less than its par value. The assessment provisions of 12 USC 55 for a deficiency in capital do not apply to the transaction, provided that: (i) applicable corporate governance procedures permit such issuance, and (ii) the bank takes appropriate measures to ensure that any below par sale will not cause its capital stock to become impaired. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1112 (February 17, 2009).
- Kansas State Rehabilitation Tax Credits. A bank received approval to establish an operating subsidiary to facilitate the purchase of Kansas State Rehabilitation Tax Credits. Purchasing, holding, and subsequently selling transferable state tax credits are permissible activities for national banks. A severely circumscribed limited partnership interest could be acquired by the subsidiary when needed to facilitate the bank's participation in permissible financial intermediary activities. Corporate Decision No. 2006-6 (July 12, 2006).
- Limited Equity Investment in Connection With Investment Management Activities. A bank received conditional approval for its operating subsidiary to hold for limited periods of time a limited interest in a private investment fund for which it serves as investment manager. Performance-based compensation structured as an allocation to the investment manager is a recognized industry practice. Conditions require, among other items, a risk management process and restriction to certain types of instruments. Conditional Approval Letter No. 755 (August 25, 2006).
- Loan Restructure and Creation of Operating Subsidiaries. Through a merger, a national bank acquired large commercial loans outstanding to the affiliates of a credit management corporation. The corporation serviced mortgage loans originated and purchased by the affiliates. The commercial loans were collateralized by the mortgage loans, other real estate owned (OREO) as the result of foreclosures, and stock of the credit management corporation. The bank proposed to restructure the commercial loans, which were under forbearance agreements, in order to acquire control over the underlying mortgages and underlying OREO, retaining the credit management corporation as the servicer. The bank's expectation was to be better able to mitigate potential loan losses, to benefit the affiliates' customers through loss mitigation strategies, and to realize tax benefits. The OCC issued a preliminary conditional approval for a series of transactions to result in the creation of three operating subsidiaries—a statutory trust to hold the bank's interest in the underlying mortgage loans and OREO; a limited liability company wholly owned by the bank's existing real estate investment trust, to receive net collections; and an OREO subsidiary to the limited liability company—and an associated nonmaterial noncash contribution from the bank's holding company. The approval was based in part on bank authority to take real estate in satisfaction of debts previously contracted. Conditional Approval No. 895 (March 31, 2009).

- Merger of Holding Company Into Subsidiary National Bank. A national bank owned by a holding company may eliminate its holding company by merging the holding company into the national bank. The merger must be permissible for the holding company under the state law of the state in which the holding company is incorporated. The merger is permissible for national banks under 12 USC 215a-3. Corporate Decision No. 2001-33 (November 29, 2001).
- Merger of Mortgage Banking Companies Into a Bank Under the AHOEO Act. A national bank's mortgage banking subsidiary and the mortgage banking subsidiary of one of its affiliate banks may merge directly into the national bank, under the American Home Ownership and Economic Opportunity Act of 2000 Section 1206, 12 USC 215a-3, which permits mergers between national banks and non-national bank subsidiaries and affiliates, subject to OCC approval. Corporate Decision No. 2001-22 (July 26, 2001).
- Merger of a National Bank Into Nonbank Affiliate. A national bank may cease its existence as a national bank by merging into a nonbank affiliate as authorized under 12 USC 215a-3 and 12 CFR 5.33(g)(5). The merger must be permissible for the nonbank affiliate under state law. The national bank may not be an insured bank at the time of the merger. Corporate Decision No. 2004-8 (March 15, 2004).
- Merger of National Trust Bank Into Nonbank Affiliates. A national trust bank may terminate its activities and cease operations through a series of transactions as granted under the authority provided under 12 USC 215a-3 and 12 CFR 5.33(g)(5). Corporate Decision No. 2004-7 (March 31, 2004).
- Purchase and Assumption Transaction in Which Acquiring Bank Is Subject to a Consent Order for BSA/AML Compliance. A proposed purchase and assumption transaction between two national banks may be subject to OCC review under the Bank Merger Act (BMA). The BMA requires the OCC to consider the effectiveness of the banks in combating money laundering activities. Because the facts reflected extenuating circumstances, the OCC approved a purchase and assumption transaction in which the acquiring bank was subject to a consent order for deficiencies in its Bank Secrecy Act/anti-money laundering programs. Corporate Decision No. 2013-05 (June 20, 2013).
- Riegle–Neal Act Interstate Merger. Affirming the court below, the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Eighth Circuit held that the OCC's determination that the merger of a Missouri bank with a Kansas bank complied with the Riegle–Neal Interstate Banking and Branching Efficiency Act's "minimum age" provisions for the merging banks and was entitled to Chevron deference. Riegle–Neal allows states to prohibit an out-of-state bank from acquiring an in-state bank that has been in existence for less than five years. Missouri adopted a minimum age law and asserted that the merger violated this statute. However, the court found the OCC's approval of the merger was entitled to deference and held that the Missouri law did not apply. The OCC approval opinion for the merger reasoned that the Missouri minimum age law did not apply because the acquiring bank was located in Missouri, not Kansas, and the Missouri statute only protects Missouri banks that are being acquired, not those that are acquiring others. The court found this reasoning to be persuasive. The OCC filed an amicus brief. TeamBank, N.A. v. McClure, 279 F.3d 614 (8th Cir. 2002).

- Retention of Branches of Converted Federal Savings Bank. A federal savings bank (FSB) may convert to a national bank. The resulting national bank may retain all the branches of the FSB and the national bank may merge into an affiliated national bank and retain all the branches resulting from the previous transaction. Corporate Decision No. 2000-05 (March 28, 2000); Corporate Decision No. 2011-10 (June 20, 2011).
- Share Reclassification Pursuant to Tennessee State Corporate Law. A national bank that has elected Tennessee law as its corporate governance process under 12 CFR 7.2000(b) may reclassify common stock held by the bank’s shareholders into new classes of preferred stock in accordance with Tennessee law. Before effecting the share reclassification, the bank must file an application under 12 CFR 5.46 and receive the OCC’s approval. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1125 (February 11, 2010).
- Shelf Charters. The OCC issued preliminary conditional approvals for a number of shelf charters, for the purpose of assuming liabilities and purchasing assets from the FDIC acting as the receiver of a depository institution. Because only chartered depository institutions may assume deposit liabilities from the FDIC, this structure provides investors in the bank holding company owning the shelf charter the opportunity to assume liabilities and purchase assets from the FDIC as receiver of a depository institution. Since the bank does not commence operations until after its bid for a particular institution is accepted by the FDIC, the specific size, scope, and activities of the bank are not determined until it acquires the business of a specific failed institution. OCC approvals are based upon the information provided by the bank, including the experience of proposed key management. A shelf charter must follow an organizing process that includes OCC review as it considers potential acquisition transactions. It is anticipated that the OCC will grant final approval for such a bank and will approve a purchase and assumption transaction under the Bank Merger Act the first time that the bank’s bid to acquire a failed institution is accepted by the FDIC. Final approval and authorization for the proposed bank to open is not granted until all pre-opening requirements are met. The OCC requires a written operating agreement which includes a comprehensive business plan by the bank that is acceptable to the OCC. - “Shelf Charter” Initial Use to Acquire Failed Banks. The OCC approved the acquisition of failed banks by two national bank established under “shelf charters.” Bond Street Bank, N.A., was granted preliminary approval as a shelf charter in 2009. In January 2010, the OCC granted final approval for the bank to establish Premier American Bank, N.A., which acquired Premier American Bank, a state-chartered bank closed by the Florida Department of Financial Services, Division of Banking. The OCC approved the acquisition of a second failed Florida state bank by Premier American Bank, N.A., later that month. In July 2010, the OCC approved the acquisition of two Florida banks and one South Carolina bank by a bank established under another shelf charter, NAFH National Bank. - Wholesale Bank to Hold Deposits Generated From Deposit Sweep Arrangements. The OCC issued a preliminary conditional approval for the chartering of a wholesale bank to hold deposits generated from deposit sweep arrangements with its affiliated broker-dealers, including Merrill Lynch, Pierce Fenner & Smith Inc., and, possibly, unaffiliated entities. Although the deposits that bank will hold will be beneficially owned by the individual brokerage customers, and will be covered by pass-through FDIC deposit insurance, the bank will have a direct contractual relationship in the form of a deposit agreement only with the broker-dealers that offer the deposit sweep product, not with the individual customers. The bank will also participate in various lending facilities offered by the Federal Reserve banks, primarily Term Auction Facility and Fed Funds, to provide an additional source of funding for its affiliates. In addition, the bank will acquire mortgage loans (i.e., one- to four-family residential and home equity lines of credit) and/or mortgage-backed securities from its insured bank affiliate, Bank of America, N.A., and hold them on its balance sheet to maintain the appropriate capital ratios. Conditional Approval No. 899 (April 23, 2009).
- Operating Subsidiaries, in General
 - A national bank may establish an operating subsidiary offering various services for customers engaged in capital gains tax-deferred exchanges of real and personal business or investment property, known as “like-kind exchanges,” under the Internal Revenue Code, 26 USC 1031. The subsidiary may provide advisory services, make referrals to third-party providers, and serve as a qualified intermediary or exchange accommodation titleholder. Financial and investment advisory services are permissible activities for national banks and their operating subsidiaries, and the referral of customers to third-party providers is a permissible finder activity. The provision of qualified intermediary and exchange accommodation titleholder services is considered incidental to the business of banking. Conditional Approval No. 869 (July 22, 2008).
 - A national bank may establish an operating subsidiary that will be taxed as a real estate investment trust. Letter from Larry A. Mallinger, Attorney, Legal Advisory Services Division (September 24, 1981).
- Operating Agreement. The OCC conditionally approved a merger application involving two uninsured trust banks requiring that, before consummation, the resulting uninsured national bank enter into an operating agreement with the OCC. The operating agreement required the bank to: (1) provide the OCC with periodic strategic plans to include specific, measurable, and verifiable performance objectives; (2) maintain at least certain minimum levels of capital and liquid assets; and (3) enter into a capital assurance and liquidity maintenance agreement with its parent. Should the bank fail to meet the terms of the operating agreement, the bank would be required to submit a: (1) remedial action plan with modified objectives and a time frame and implementation strategy; or (2) contingency plan to sell, merge, or liquidate the bank. Conditional Approval No. 624 (February 20, 2004).
- Reduction of Par Value. A national bank may reduce the par value of its shares to $0.01 per share with an offsetting increase to the bank's capital surplus. The reduction in par value may reduce the bank's state franchise taxes. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 963 (April 14, 2003).

- Reorganizations, in General

- A national bank and certain affiliates may combine and reorganize their banking and trust business lines to effect a separation of two principal business lines into two different institutions. Conditional Approval No. 859 (June 13, 2008).
- A state industrial bank (IB) or industrial loan company (ILC) may convert to a national bank under 12 USC 35 and 214(a) so long as the IB or ILC is a banking institution under state law and is engaged in the business of receiving deposits. Conditional Approval No. 880 (September 21, 2008).

- Restructuring of Credit Card, International, Consumer, and Commercial Finance Businesses.

A banking organization's credit card, international, consumer, and commercial finance businesses were restructured in a large, complex transaction. The restructuring resulted in one bank being the main issuer of consumer credit cards, and another bank being the issuer of government, corporate, and certain consumer credit cards. As part of this transaction, various ancillary entities that were bank or holding company subsidiaries became subsidiaries of the credit card-issuing banks. Certain activities related to ownership of motor vehicles were approved for the first time, either as finder activities or on an excess capacity basis. Newly authorized finder activities included assisting vehicle owners in selling their vehicles; assisting them in locating tow trucks and vehicle repair facilities; assisting corporate customers in obtaining employee driving records from the state motor vehicle department; and assisting such customers with driver's license renewals and vehicle registrations. Newly authorized excess capacity activities included management of third-party subrogation claims for accidents involving automobiles not leased from the bank, and assisting owners of vehicle fleets in establishing corporate safety policies. In addition, certain finance company affiliates were transferred to and became subsidiaries of one of the banks. Corporate Decision No. 2001-28 (September 21, 2001).

- Retention of a Non-controlling Investment in a Financial Services Holding Company Following the Conversion of the Holding Company's Wholly Owned Subsidiary From a State Limited Commercial Bank Charter to a National Bank Charter.

Because the standards in 12 CFR 5.36 for non-controlling investments appeared to be satisfied, existing national bank shareholders of a financial services holding company could retain their non-controlling investments following the conversion of a holding company subsidiary from a state limited commercial bank charter to a national bank charter. The subsidiary would continue to operate primarily as a provider of correspondent services to community banks but would not qualify as a banker's bank because of its current and proposed activity of making direct commercial loans to nonbank customers. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1092 (March 22, 2007).

- Reverse Stock Split, Delaware Corporate Governance Procedures. Pursuant to 12 CFR 5.46, a national bank in California may elect the corporate governance provisions of Delaware and complete a reverse stock split in accordance with those provisions. The approval is subject to conditions that the bank provide for dissenters' rights comparable to those found in 12 USC 214a, 215, and 215a, and pay the cost of any appraisal (but not attorneys' or experts' fees) that might occur if a shareholder dissents. Conditional Approval No. 670 (December 27, 2004).

- Reverse Stock Split, Mississippi Corporate Governance Procedures. Consistent with 12 CFR 7.2000(b) and 7.2023, a national bank in Mississippi may elect the corporate governance provisions of Mississippi law and complete a reverse stock split with those provisions. Conditional Approval No. 562 (December 9, 2002).
- Reverse Stock Split, Alabama Corporate Governance Procedures. Consistent with 12 CFR 7.2000(b) and 7.2023, a national bank in Alabama may elect the corporate governance provisions of Alabama law and complete a reverse stock split in accordance with those provisions. Conditional Approval No. 541 (July 30, 2002).
- Reverse Stock Split, Delaware and Kentucky Corporate Governance Procedures. The OCC granted approvals of reverse stock splits conducted under Delaware and Kentucky corporate governance procedures for the first time. A list of states where the OCC has approved reverse stock splits under the respective state's corporate governance procedures is contained in the "Capital and Dividends" booklet of the Comptroller's Licensing Manual. Conditional Approval No. 670 (December 27, 2004); Conditional Approval No. 683 (April 7, 2005).
- Shelf Charters. The OCC announced that it had granted its first conditional preliminary approval of a new type of national bank "shelf-charter," designed to facilitate new equity investments in troubled depository institutions. The charter remains inactive, or "on the shelf" until such time as the investor group is in a position to acquire a troubled institution. By granting the preliminary approval, the OCC expands the pool of potential buyers available to buy troubled institutions, and in particular the equity capital made available to bid on troubled institutions through the FDIC's bid process. The approval requires a streamlined business plan that describes how the acquired bank will be operated. The OCC can later grant conditional preliminary approval of a national bank charter, subject to certain conditions and to requirements that more detailed operating plans, satisfactory to the OCC, be submitted, if the bank targets a specific institution for acquisition. OCC News Release 2008-137 (November 21, 2008). See also Conditional Preliminary Approval Letter (November 17, 2008).
- Share Exchange. A national bank may effect a share exchange to become a subsidiary of a bank holding company pursuant to 12 USC 215a-2 and 12 CFR 7.2000, by offering most shareholders holding company stock, but providing cash to out-of-state residents, to avoid costs associated with registering its stock under the Securities Act of 1933. Corporate Decision No. 2002-08 (May 15, 2002).
- Termination of National Bank Activities. A national bank may terminate its activities, and cease operations through a series of transactions including those granted under the authority provided under 12 USC 215a-3. The bank ceased its deposit-taking activities, caused the FDIC to cancel its status as an insured depository institution, and an affiliated bank acquired its remaining assets through a 215a-3 merger. Corporate Decision No. 2003-12 (November 26, 2003).

- Transfer of Mortgage Servicing Business. National banks may acquire mortgage servicing rights from an affiliate, subject to certain conditions. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1130 (March 10, 2011).
- Trust Company Organized as LLC. A state bank organized as a limited liability company may convert to a national bank under 12 USC 35. After the conversion, the trust company would continue to follow the state limited liability company law for its internal guidance to the extent not inconsistent with applicable federal banking statutes and regulations or bank safety and soundness, under 12 CFR 7.2000. Conditional Approval No. 696 (June 9, 2005).

Finder Activities

- Transaction Finders, in General. National banks may serve as finders for certain goods and services, i.e., they may bring parties together for a transaction that the parties themselves negotiate and consummate. 12 USC 24(Seventh); 12 CFR 7.1002. National banks may advertise and accept fees for their finder services. Finder activities include, but are not limited to, identifying potential parties, making inquiries as to interest, making introductions or arranging meetings of interested parties and otherwise bringing parties together for a transaction that the parties themselves negotiate and consummate. The following are examples of these services:

- Acting as Finder by Hosting Commercial Website for Small Retailers. National banks may host commercially enabled websites for small retailers as a form of electronic “finder” activity. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 856 (March 5, 1999).
- Acting as Finder for Automobile Club. National banks may sell memberships as agent for an automobile club. No Objection Letter No. 89-02, reprinted in [1989-1990 Transfer Binder] Fed. Banking L. Rep. (CCH) ¶ 83,014 (April 17, 1989).
- Acting as Finder for Automobile Sales. National banks may act as finders for automobile sales and financing through databases, call centers, and Internet services. 12 CFR 7.1002, 7.1019; OCC Interpretive Letter No. 741 (August 19, 1996); Corporate Decision No. 97-60 (July 1, 1997).

Conditional Approval No. 361 (March 3, 2000).
- Acting as Finder for Health Care Programs. National banks may provide medical insurance cost information, benefits counseling, premium collection and disbursement and related activities. OCC Corporate Decision No. 98-13 (February 9, 1998).
- Acting as Finder for Insurance. National banks may provide finder services in connection with insurance products and services. To identify permissible national bank finder arrangements in the insurance context (as an alternative to 12 USC 92 authority), the OCC considers: (1) the scope of the proposed activities; (2) the existence or absence of another insurance agent or broker in the arrangement; (3) whether the bank has a contractual relationship with an insurance company for selling its products, and, if so, the nature of the relationship; and (4) the bank's compensation arrangement for the proposed activities. For example, national banks may participate in sharing arrangements with other banks whereby they combine their efforts to use the services of a group of independent agencies that would solicit and sell insurance services to bank customers on site, sharing pro rata in referred business. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 824 (February 27, 1998).

- Acting as Finder for Internet Vendors. National banks may provide their customers with links to the websites of nonbanking, third-party vendors. 12 CFR 7.1002; Conditional Approval No. 221 (December 4, 1996); OCC Interpretive Letter No. 611, reprinted in [1992-1993 Transfer Binder] Fed. Banking L. Rep. (CCH) ¶ 83,449 (November 23, 1992).

(CCH) ¶ 83,202 (May 18, 1990); Letter from William B. Glidden, Assistant Director, Legal Advisory Services Division (January 20, 1988).
- Acting as Finder for Nonfinancial Products. Under its authority to act as a finder, a national bank may help arrange for the purchase of nonfinancial products by its credit card customers. The bank proposed to make each customer who contacts the bank's call center aware that a nonfinancial product is available to the customer and that the bank will, upon the customer's request, transmit certain information to the product's vendor. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 904 (January 18, 2001).
- Sale and Support of Credit Card Incentive Plans. A national bank operating subsidiary may sell access to its existing credit card promotional reward points program to unaffiliated third-party merchants. The merchants will purchase an inventory of the program's reward points and award them to their own customers, employees or other parties. The points will be redeemed from a merchandise/services catalog administered by the national bank operating subsidiary. Corporate Decision No. 2003-10 (June 27, 2003).

Leasing

- Leasing, in General. National banks may engage in personal property leasing activities under two separate authorities, 12 USC 24(Seventh) and 12 USC 24(Tenth).
 - CEBA Leases. A national bank may invest in tangible personal property, including vehicles, manufactured homes, machinery, equipment, or furniture, for the purpose of, or in connection with leasing that property, if the aggregate book value of the property does not exceed 10 percent of the bank's consolidated assets and the related lease is a conforming lease. 12 USC 24(Tenth); OCC Interpretive Letter No. 770 (February 10, 1997). National banks may also engage in lease financing if the lease is the functional equivalent of a loan under Section 24(Seventh). The OCC has interpreted this to mean that Section 24(Seventh) leases must be net, full-payout leases. Under the full-payout requirement, national banks may rely on the estimated residual value only to a limited extent, i.e., the unguaranteed portion of the estimated residual value relied upon by the bank, plus the estimated cost of financing the property, must not exceed a specified percentage of the original cost of the property to the lessor. Under the net requirement, national banks may not directly or indirectly provide for (or become obligated to provide) servicing and repairs on the leased property or the payment of insurance for the lessee. 12 CFR Part 23.

- Consulting Services Relating to Leasing. National banks may engage in property leasing activities through a subsidiary, including lease consulting services, finder services, and lease servicing. - Equipment and Personal Property Leasing. National banks may invest in tangible personal property, including without limitation, vehicles, manufactured homes, machinery, equipment, or furniture, for lease financing transactions on a net lease basis, provided the aggregate book value of all such property does not exceed 10 percent of the consolidated assets of the bank. 12 USC 24(Seventh); 12 CFR 23.7; OCC Interpretive Letter No. 567, reprinted in [1991-1992 Transfer Binder] Fed. Banking L. Rep. (CCH) ¶ 83,337 (October 29, 1991); OCC Interpretive Letter No. 556, reprinted in [1991-1992 Transfer Binder] Fed. Banking L. Rep. (CCH) ¶ 83,306 (August 6, 1991).
- Excess Space. National banks may lease excess space on bank premises to other businesses, share space with other businesses, or offer their services in space owned by or leased to other businesses. 12 CFR 7.3001.
- Lease Financing, Historic Preservation. National banks can establish operating subsidiaries to acquire a leasehold interest in historic buildings and thus acquire the tax credits associated with those buildings. This allows the bank to reduce the borrower’s costs of financing the rehabilitation and at the same time earn an improved return. To be permissible under 12 USC 24(Seventh), the substance of this type of transaction must be that of a financing transaction. Corporate Decision No. 99-07 (March 26, 1999).

- Lease Interest in Natural Gas. A national bank’s operating subsidiary may own an interest in a natural gas lease when ownership interest is equivalent to secured lending. Corporate Decision No. 98-17 (March 23, 1998). National banks may acquire an otherwise impermissible property interest in minerals, e.g., oil and gas production payments, when it is acquired in connection with the bank’s express power to lend money. Letter from Robert J. Herrmann, Deputy Comptroller (October 4, 1994).
- Lease of Personal Property for Bank’s Use. National banks may be the lessee of personal property for their own use. Letter from John G. Hensel, Regional Administrator of National Banks (July 14, 1976).

- Lease of Real Property. National banks may lease real property that is incidental to a permissible lease of personal property, e.g., land upon which a leased manufacturing facility stands. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 770 (February 10, 1997); Corporate Decision No. 98-35 (June 10, 1998).
- Leasing Bank Employees From Third Party. National banks may lease the services of its employees from a third party as long as the board of directors continues to retain and exercise general supervision over the affairs of the bank. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 431, reprinted in [1988-1989 Transfer Binder] Fed. Banking L. Rep. (CCH) ¶ 85,655 (November 5, 1987); 12 CFR 7.2010.

- Leasing/Selling Excess Capacity. A national bank may lease excess monitoring capacity of its security or fire alarm system or other equipment to other financial institutions. Letter from Mary Wheat, Attorney, Midwestern District (September 17, 1987). National banks may market excess capacity on mail sorting equipment to other companies and may resell excess capacity on their long line telecommunications and data processing equipment to third parties. Letter from Peter Liebesman, Assistant Director, Legal Advisory Services Division, (December 13, 1983); Letter from Stephen B. Brown, Attorney (December 20, 1989).
- Murabaha Financing Transactions. A national bank may enter into net leases or installment sales of real estate to serve the home finance needs of its customers who are prohibited by religious principles from paying interest and therefore from obtaining traditional mortgages. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 806 (October 17, 1997); OCC Interpretive Letter No. 867 (June 1, 1999).

- Non-controlling Investment in Trust to Purchase, Own, Lease Aircraft. A national bank may make a non-controlling investment in a trust established to purchase, own, and lease commercial aircraft. However, because of safety and soundness concerns, the bank must charge off the investment in its entirety. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 887 (April 30, 2000).
- Personal Property Leases. A national bank may provide financing for a wind energy generation project through a sale-and-leaseback transaction conducted through two subsidiaries. Pursuant to 12 USC 24(Seventh) and 12 CFR Part 23, the lease, must be a full-payout lease and a net lease. Furthermore, to be equivalent to a secured loan, the lease must be a noncancelable obligation on the part of the lessee (the lessee may only cancel if the bank defaults). The residual value of the leased property must be reasonable in light of the nature of the leased property and any unguaranteed amount of the residual value may not exceed 25 percent of the original cost of the property. Other requirements concerning limitations on ownership of underlying real estate, operation of the project, and retention of the residual interest also apply to the transaction. Corporate Decision No. 2012-06 (February 28, 2012).
- Purchase of Off-Lease Equipment. A national bank may purchase from lessors and resell, as principal, off-lease equipment. Alternatively, it may act as agent for such lessors in selling the equipment. The letter finds that these activities are part of the business of banking and authorized under 12 USC 24(Seventh), 12 USC 24(Tenth), and 12 CFR Part 23. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 953 (December 4, 2002).
- Railcar Leasing. A national bank’s operating subsidiary may enter into railcar leasing agreements in which it arranges for third parties to service, repair, and maintain the railcars at the expense of the lessee. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1142 (July 10, 2014).
- Real Estate Leasing. A national bank’s financial subsidiary proposed to engage in real estate leasing of the type that the Federal Reserve Board has determined to be permissible in Section 225.28(b)(3) of Regulation Y. The financial subsidiary also proposed to become a general partner of a limited partnership that would also engage in real estate leasing permitted by Regulation Y. Financial Subsidiary Filing (December 6, 2001).

Lending

- Lending, in General. A national bank and its operating subsidiaries may make, purchase, sell, service, or warehouse loans or other extensions of credit for its own or another’s account, including consumer loans, credit card loans, commercial loans, residential mortgage loans, commercial mortgage loans, and standby letters of credit. 12 USC 24(Seventh), 371; 12 CFR 5.34. A national bank’s broad authority to lend and extend credit includes, but is not limited to, the following activities:
 - Abundance of Caution Exception in Real Estate Appraisal. In order to use abundance of caution exception in real estate appraisal regulation, 12 CFR 34.43(a)(2), the borrower’s ability to repay must be well supported by income or collateral other than real estate. The position in OCC Interpretive Letter No. 569 that indirect real estate lending, e.g., taking as collateral promissory notes that are secured by real estate, is subject to the appraisal regulation is reaffirmed. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1107 (December 4, 2008).

- Adjustable Rate Mortgages (ARM). National banks may make, sell, purchase, participate in or otherwise deal in ARM loans without regard to state limitations. 12 CFR 34.21(a).
- Advances Necessary to Preserve Business Acquired to Secure DPC. National banks can make necessary advances to run a business and thereby preserve its going concern value when the business is acquired to secure or collect debt previously contracted (DPC). 12 CFR 34.86; OCC Interpretive Letter No. 576, reprinted in [1991-1992 Transfer Binder] Fed. Banking L. Rep. (CCH) ¶ 83,346 (March 27, 1992); OCC Interpretive Letter No. 12, reprinted in [1978-1979 Transfer Binder] Fed. Banking L. Rep. (CCH) ¶ 85,087 (December 7, 1977).
- Agricultural Loans. A national bank may offer agricultural loans with payments that vary based on changes in commodity prices. The proposed activities are permissible as incidental to an existing agricultural lending business. The bank first must satisfy itself concerning possible application of commodity laws to the program and must also establish to the satisfaction of the supervisory office that the bank has an appropriate risk measurement and management process. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1019 (February 10, 2005).
- Appraisal Services. National banks may perform real estate appraisals in connection with both their loans and loans made by other financial institutions. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 467, reprinted in [1988-1989 Transfer Binder] Fed. Banking L. Rep. (CCH) ¶ 85,691 (January 24, 1989). National bank operating subsidiaries may perform real estate appraisals for general customers, even if no bank loan is involved, pursuant to the excess capacity theory, provided that the activity constitutes no more than 10 percent of the subsidiary's business. National banks may perform appraisals for the occasional customer who requests one even though there is no associated loan transaction. Corporate Decision No. 98-25 (April 1, 1998); 12 CFR 34.45(a).
- Balloon Loans. National banks may make either conventional or repurchase balloon loans secured by personal property and real property. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 364, reprinted in [1985-1987 Transfer Binder] Fed. Banking L. Rep. (CCH) ¶ 85,534 (July 9, 1986). National banks may make fixed rate, balloon, demand, or non-regularly amortized residential mortgage loans without regard to state law to the contrary. Letter from William B. Glidden, Assistant Director, Bank Operations and Assets Division (September 30, 1992).
- Banker's Acceptances (i.e., commitments by financial institutions to honor drafts of customer at a future date, usually not in excess of nine months). National banks may issue banker's acceptances. A national bank is not limited in the character of acceptances that it may make in financing credit transactions. An accepting bank may create, buy, and sell acceptances created by any bank in a transaction with any party in any denomination, and a nonaccepting bank may purchase an acceptance of any denomination for resale to any party, including fractional interests, provided that the rights conveyed are at least equivalent to those provided in the underlying documents. 12 CFR 7.1007.

- Bridge Loans. A national bank’s operating subsidiary may form partnerships with the affiliate of an investment bank to make short-term bridge loans and provide advice concerning such bridge loans. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 411, reprinted in [1988-1989 Transfer Binder] Fed. Banking L. Rep. ¶ 85,635 (January 20, 1988); OCC Interpretive Letter No. 516, reprinted in [1990-1991 Transfer Binder] Fed. Banking L. Rep. (CCH) ¶ 83,220 (July 12, 1990).
- Bridge Loans for Infrastructure Construction. A national bank’s subsidiary community development corporation may provide bridge loans to low- and moderate-income individuals and individuals living in low- and moderate-income areas to finance the installation of water and sewer infrastructure improvements. Approval of Bank’s Self-Certification (December 27, 2004).
- Combination of Church Loans Under the Direct Benefit Test Where Controlling Trust Beneficiaries Are Identical. A national bank with four outstanding loans to four separate local churches proposed to lend additional funds to a fifth church. Because the proceeds of loans made to the local churches are used for transactions which are controlled by trusts having an identical beneficiary (the parent church), and this beneficiary is entitled to the ultimate benefit of those transactions, the loans should be combined and attributed to the beneficiary. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 925 (April 12, 2001).
- Construction Loans to Unaffiliated Lenders. A national bank may establish a wholly owned operating subsidiary to provide a number of real estate construction loan services to unaffiliated lenders. This was the first approval of banks providing many of these services, which banks provide for themselves, to other parties. Corporate Decision No. 2001-27 (September 13, 2001).
- Credit Analysis for Third Parties. National banks may perform credit analysis for third parties. Letter from Peter Liebesman, Assistant Director, Legal Advisory Services Division (October 11, 1983).
- Credit Card Banking. National banks may perform a variety of activities related to credit cards, including issuing credit cards, handling credit applications for other card issuers, operating a card loss notification service, and credit verification services over point of service terminals. Letter from Richard V. Fitzgerald, Director, Legal Advisory Services Division (November 14, 1980); Letter from Richard V. Fitzgerald, Director, Legal Advisory Services Division (January 25, 1979); Letter from John E. Shockey, Deputy Chief Counsel (September 18, 1975); Letter from John D. Gwin, Deputy Comptroller (November 14, 1974).
- Daily Netting Requirement. A national bank that is a member of a centralized clearing facility that requires daily netting of obligations may aggregate the daily net obligation amounts in order to determine compliance with the legal lending limit, provided that the bank excludes those days for which the net obligation amount is an amount payable by the bank. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1088 (September 11, 2007).

- Debt Cancellation Contracts. For purposes of 12 CFR Part 37, the OCC views a national bank’s extension of credit in connection with an automobile loan with a guaranteed automobile protection (GAP) feature as a single product, and does not contemplate any separate product relating to financing for the GAP feature. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1028 (May 9, 2005).
- Debt Cancellation Contracts. Guaranteed automobile protection (GAP) addendums sold by a national bank to borrowers in connection with the bank’s motor vehicle loans and in connection with a GAP program administered by a third party, are debt cancellation contracts subject to 12 CFR Part 37. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1032 (June 16, 2005).
- Debt Cancellation Contracts Offered Through Automobile Dealers. A national bank is authorized to offer debt cancellation contracts (DCCs) to consumers through automobile dealers under 12 USC 24(Seventh) and 12 CFR Part 37. These DCCs are subject to Part 37 standards. When a bank’s DCCs provide protection on a closed-end loan repayable in five years, the bank cannot collect the full cost of the DCC in monthly periodic payments over the first year of the loan. To comply with the periodic payment option under 12 CFR 37.5, the bank must collect the DCC fees in periodic payments over the full five-year term of the loan or until the time the loan is repaid. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1095 (February 27, 2008).
- Debt Collection. National banks may collect delinquent loans on behalf of other lenders, may provide billing services for doctors, hospitals, or other service providers and may act as an agent in the warehousing and servicing of other loans. Letter from Peter Liebesman, Assistant Director, Legal Advisory Services Division (August 27, 1985).
- Debt for Equity Swaps. National banks may enter into swaps of rescheduled foreign government loans through a series of interrelated transactions and hold the equity received to extinguish the debt pursuant to the national bank’s debt previously contracted (DPC) authority. Similarly, national banks may exchange nonperforming or rescheduled debt acquired DPC for equity in unaffiliated companies. Letter from Ralph E. Sharpe, Deputy Comptroller, Multinational Banking (September 25, 1996); Letter from Ralph E. Sharpe, Deputy Comptroller, Multinational Banking (February 25, 1997); Letter from Ralph E. Sharpe, Deputy Comptroller, Multinational Banking (March 25, 1997); OCC Interpretive Letter No. 643, reprinted in [1994 Transfer Binder] Fed. Banking L. Rep. (CCH) ¶ 83,551 (July 1, 1992); OCC Interpretive Letter No. 511, reprinted in [1990-1991 Transfer Binder] Fed. Banking L. Rep. (CCH) ¶ 83,213 (July 20, 1990).
- Debtor Bank Located in State of Its Main Office for UCC Purposes. As a general matter, under revised Article 9 of the Uniform Commercial Code, the location of the debtor determines which state’s law governs perfection of a security interest. Section 9-307 determines the location of debtors for choice of law purposes. For purposes of this Section, a debtor national bank is located in the state in which its main office is located. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 913 (August 5, 2001).

- Direct Deposit Advance Program. A direct deposit advance program, characterized as a program of advances, pursuant to a written agreement with the customer, made to a participating deposit account in defined increments, with a fixed finance charge per increment, and limited to a portion of a customer’s monthly direct deposits up to a maximum balance, to be repaid upon crediting of subsequent direct deposits, or charged in full to the customer’s account if not repaid within a specified time frame, constitutes open-end consumer credit for purposes of the Truth in Lending Act and Regulation Z. Letter from Michael S. Bylsma, Director, Community and Consumer Law Division (April 11, 2001).
- Disbursing Agent. National banks may act as disbursing agent for loans made by another bank. Letter from Kenneth W. Leaf, Chief National Bank Examiner (October 18, 1974).
- Economic Development Loans to Native Americans. National banks may make loans to certain authorized Native American organizations, with at least 20 percent of the loans guaranteed, without being subject to restrictions of other statutes regarding loan to value ratios, maturity, security, priority of lien or percentage of assets that may be invested. 25 USC 1489.
- Equity-Based Loan in a Renewable Energy Company. A national bank may acquire an equity interest in a company to provide project financing for renewable energy facilities and make the bank eligible to receive federal renewable energy tax credits, provided that the bank’s investment qualifies as the functional equivalent of a loan. Here, the OCC approved project financing for a renewable energy project because the bank made certain representations and agreed to certain conditions designed to ensure that the transaction qualified as the functional equivalent of a loan and satisfied certain supervisory standards. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1139 (November 13, 2013).
- Equity-Based Loan in a Renewable Energy Company in Which the Company Sells the Energy it Produces in the Electricity Market and Hedges with an Unaffiliated Third Party. A national bank may make an equity-based investment in a renewable energy company to finance a renewable energy facility and ensure the receipt of federal renewable energy tax credits that permit financing at a lower cost, provided that the investment is the functional equivalent of a loan. An equity-based investment structure was deemed permissible by the OCC when the bank complied with the representations and conditions of Interpretive Letter No. 1139 and the renewable energy company also sold the energy into the local electricity market and entered into a hedge contract with a third party to protect against power price volatility. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1141 (April 22, 2014); OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1139 (November 13, 2013).
- Escrow Services. National banks may provide escrow services. Letter from Thomas G. DeShazo, Deputy Comptroller (May 6, 1968).

- Exchange of Interest in Real Property Acquired in Satisfaction of a Debt Previously Contracted for Interest in an Entity That Would Dispose of the Real Property. A national bank may exchange an interest in real property acquired in satisfaction of a debt previously contracted for an interest in an entity that would dispose of the real property. Before making the exchange, (1) the bank’s directors must determine that the exchange is in the best interests of the bank and would improve the ability of the bank to recover, or otherwise limit, its loan loss, and (2) the bank must notify its supervisory office, in writing, of the proposed exchange and receive written notification of supervisory no-objection. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1118 (July 2, 2009).
- Exportation of Interest Rates. 12 USC 85, including “most favored lender” provision, applies to operating subsidiaries in the same manner and to the same extent that it applies to the parent national bank. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 968 (February 12, 2003); OCC Interpretive Letter No. 974 (July 21, 2003).
- Financing Through Interest in LLC. A national bank may hold an interest in a limited liability company (LLC) structured to be substantially equivalent to an extension of credit, to finance an alternative energy project. The LLC would, in turn, hold interests in real estate in connection with its business. The proposed structure facilitates the provision of financing by permitting the bank to receive federal tax credits and reducing the cost of financing. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1048 (December 12, 2005).
- Flood Hazard Determinations. National banks may provide mortgage lenders with flood hazard determination services. Corporate Decision No. 97-79 (July 11, 1997).
- Home Equity Lines of Credit. In a national bank’s securitization of its own home equity lines of credit (HELOC), the bank may hold the securitized HELOC notes as Type V securities. Under the specific facts and circumstances represented, the usual 25 percent prudential limit is not intended to apply and retention of the subordinated interest is permissible under 12 USC 24(Seventh). The conclusions are subject to various safety and soundness requirements. The appropriate risk-based capital treatment is the risk-based capital charge for the underlying HELOC. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1035 (July 21, 2005).
- Insider Loans. Regulation O prohibits national banks from making preferential loans or extensions of credit to bank “insiders,” a group that includes: executive officers, directors, principal shareholders, and their related interests. A national bank violates Regulation O with an insider loan or extension of credit if the loan or extension is either: (i) preferential or (ii) involves more than the normal risk of repayment or presents other unfavorable features. To the extent that earlier OCC staff opinions have suggested otherwise, they are overruled. Earlier staff opinions concluded that both requirements (i) and (ii) must be met in order to violate Regulation O. The prohibition against insider loans by Regulation O applies at the time the loan or extension is made. Consequently, if a loan or extension of credit is made to an individual before the individual becomes an insider, the loan is grandfathered and does not violate Regulation O, provided that the loan is made in good faith and not in contemplation of the individual becoming an insider. However, after becoming an insider, no new loans or extensions of credit can be made to the insider and no loans or extensions can be renewed unless they comply with Regulation O. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1024 (March 21, 2005); OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1096 (March 20, 2008).

- Investment in a Firm Engaged in Check Cashing and Payday Lending. A national bank was permitted to make a non-controlling investment in a firm engaged in check cashing and payday lending activities where the bank would: (1) use the firm to educate consumers about traditional banking services, alternatives to payday loans, and the limited proper use of such loans; (2) cause the firm to provide enhanced disclosures about payday loans, including information about the cost of multiple rollovers; (3) limit the use of payday loans, such as by imposing annual limits and limits on rollovers; and (4) assess lower fees for rollover transactions. The firm’s check cashing operations also were intended to be used as a vehicle to transition customers into more traditional bank products such as savings accounts. Non-controlling Investment Notification (March 14, 2000).
- Lending Limits. Lending limits in 12 USC 84 and the public welfare investments limits of 12 USC 24(Eleventh) are separate and independent of each other. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1076 (November 14, 2006).
- Lending Limit Exception for Marketable Staples. The lending limit exception for marketable staples secured by warehouse receipts, 12 USC 84(c)(3) and 12 CFR 32.3(b)(1)(iv)(B), does not apply if the borrower registers the warehouse receipts with an independent third party but retains control of the staples. The borrower was the owner of the elevator in which the staples were stored. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 895 (June 22, 2000).
- Lending Limit for Bank Premises. A national bank may make a loan to an unrelated borrower that exceeds the bank’s lending limit when the borrower will use the proceeds to construct a new premises building for the bank. The limitations on loans and investments for bank premises contained in 12 USC 371d take precedence over the general lending limits in 12 USC 84. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 950 (December 18, 2002).
- Lending Limit for Loans Guaranteed by the Illinois Farm Development Authority. Loans guaranteed by the Illinois Farm Development Authority (IFDA) qualify for the lending limit exception contained in 12 CFR 32.3(c)(5) because of an Illinois Attorney General opinion stating that IFDA loan guarantees are backed by the full faith and credit of the state of Illinois. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 899 (May 15, 2000).
- Lending Limit for Loans to Leasing Companies. Letter concludes that the leasing exception at 12 CFR 32.3(c)(10) can apply when the proceeds of the loan to the leasing company are not used directly to purchase the assets to be leased but rather are used to reimburse the leasing company for the past purchase of such assets. OCC Interpretive

- Lending Limit for Loans to Related Entities. Letter addresses the application of the various loan combination and attribution rules at 12 CFR 32.5 to loans to several related entities. The letter also addresses the issue of how to treat the gross income from a subchapter S corporation that is reported as part of the shareholder’s adjusted gross income on his or her federal tax return in determining substantial financial interdependence for the purpose of 12 CFR 32.5(c)(2). OCC Interpretive Letter No. 951 (January 17, 2002).
- Lending Limit Pilot Program. Two loans by the same bank to the same borrower, one having a first lien and the other having a second lien on the same residential real estate, qualify for the OCC’s special lending limit pilot program. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1050 (January 25, 2006).
- Lending Limit Pilot Program. A loan to finance land development or construction, whether secured by the real property or not, does not qualify for the lending limit pilot program in 12 CFR 32.7. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 942 (June 11, 2002).
- Lending Limit Relief. A lending national bank may obtain relief from the lending limit upon the sale of loan participations provided the participations meet certain requirements under 12 CFR 32.2(k)(2)(vi). The lending limit participation rule contains no reference to applicable accounting standards and, accordingly, conformity with sale requirements under such standards is not required. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1134 (August 2, 2011). [Editor’s note: Part 32 was amended in 2012 to consolidate the lending limit rules applicable to national banks and federal savings associations. Consequently, a savings association may also obtain lending limit relief if it meets the applicable Part 32 requirements. Under the amended Part 32, the citation relating to loan participations is 12 CFR 32.2(q)(2)(vi).]
- Lending Limit Wind Tower Lending. Letter addresses the applicability of the lending limit combination rules to loans to wind tower companies that sell their output to the same power company. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1074 (November 21, 2006).
- Loan Agreements Providing for a Share in Profits, Income, or Earnings, or for Stock Warrants. National banks may make loans and accept from the borrower in lieu of interest, a share of the borrower’s profits, equity in the borrower, stock warrants (provided they are not exercised), or stock dividend payments. 12 CFR 7.1006; Letter from William B. Glidden, Assistant Director, Legal Advisory Services Division (May 8, 1989).
- Loan Attribution to One Entity Through Common Enterprise Test. A national bank proposed to make loans to two entities (A and B) that were related through the common control of a third entity (X). A and B each paid more than 50 percent of its gross annual expenditures to the controlling entity X. Accordingly, the proposed loans to A and B would be attributed to X under 12 CFR 32.5(c)(2) and thus combined for purposes of the legal lending limit, even where X does not borrow directly from the national bank. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 938 (January 18, 2001).

- Loan Origination and Servicing Activities. A national bank’s operating subsidiary may engage in loan origination and servicing activities, as well as commercial mortgage loan brokerage services. A national bank’s operating subsidiary may make, purchase, sell, service or warehouse loans, or other extensions of credit for its own or another’s account, including consumer loans, credit card loans, commercial loans, residential mortgage loans, and commercial mortgage loans. 12 CFR 5.34(e)(5)(v)(D), 34.1(b).
- Loan Participations. National banks may purchase participation interests in pooled loans. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 579, reprinted in [1991-1992 Transfer Binder] Fed. Banking L. Rep. (CCH) ¶ 83,349 (March 24, 1992).
- Loan Production Offices. National banks may establish loan production offices to solicit and originate business outside of its main office and authorized branches. 12 CFR 7.1004, 7.1005.
- Loan Repurchase Agreements. National banks may agree to repurchase loans or other assets. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 415, reprinted in [1988-1989 Transfer Binder] Fed. Banking L. Rep. (CCH) ¶ 85,639 (February 12, 1988); 12 CFR Part 32.
- Loans Secured by Insured, Non-Negotiable Certificates of Deposit. Loans secured by insured, non-negotiable certificates of deposit issued by other financial institutions do not qualify for the additional lending limit for loans secured by readily marketable collateral, or for the lending limit exception for loans secured by U.S. government-guaranteed loans. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1061 (April 28, 2006).
- Loans Secured by Liens on Real Estate. A national bank that wishes to acquire loans from a securitization trust, which is in process of winding down, also may acquire for a moment-in-time debt previously contracted (DPC) real estate from the trust. Before such acquisition, the national bank must have an agreement in place to resell the DPC real estate immediately to a third party. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1097 (April 3, 2008).
- Loans to an Employee Stock Option Plan (ESOP). A national bank, as a disqualified person who serves as a trustee or service provider to an ESOP, may make qualified term loans through its commercial loan division to a company sponsoring an ESOP. - Mortgage Document Custodian. National banks may act as document custodians of residential mortgage loan documents for third parties without obtaining approval to exercise trust powers. 12 USC 24(Seventh).
- Mortgage Modification and Foreclosure Avoidance Scams—Consumer Advisory. The OCC issued a consumer advisory to help homeowners avoid scams that claim to help them save their homes, but can cause them to lose their homes and their money. The advisory describes common types of mortgage modification and foreclosure rescue scams, and offers a list of warning signs that a person or company may be perpetrating one of these scams. The advisory also gives tips for consumers to protect themselves from these scams, provides a list of resources to contact for legitimate help, including information on U.S. government loan programs and counseling resources, and reminds consumers having difficulty paying their mortgages that they should always start by contacting their lender or servicer to discuss their options. OCC Consumer Advisory 2009-1 (April 21, 2009).
- Most Favored Lender. Under “most favored lender” provision of 12 USC 85 and the Michigan parity statute, if state-chartered banks may charge prepayment fees to the same extent as federal savings associations, then national banks may, as well. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1004 (August 4, 2004).
- Offshore Operating Subsidiary. A national bank may establish an offshore operating subsidiary that will facilitate the funding of the bank’s domestic mortgage lending operations. The subsidiary’s books and records must be maintained in the United States and be accessible to the OCC. Conditional Approval No. 536 (June 21, 2002).
- Officer Residence. The executive officer residence exception in Federal Reserve Board Regulation O, 12 CFR 215.5(c)(2), applies to a single loan secured by a first lien on one residence. Loans secured by an unconditional takeout commitment from the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation (Freddie Mac) do not qualify for the government agency takeout exception in 12 CFR 215.4(d)(3)(i)(B). OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1009 (August 12, 2004).
- Overdraft Fees Not Interest. A national bank’s flat fee charges to deposit customers for checks written without sufficient funds on deposit do not constitute “interest” limited by 12 USC 85. The fee is a processing fee, not compensation for an extension of credit. Video Trax, Inc. v. NationsBank, N.A., 33 F. Supp. 2d 1041 (S.D. Fla. 1998), aff’d, 205 F.3d 1358 (11th Cir.), cert. denied, 531 U.S. 822 (2000).

- Reverse Mortgage—Consumer Advisory. The OCC issued a consumer advisory to help consumers better understand reverse mortgages. The information developed for consumers discusses basic facts about reverse mortgages, which are complex, home-secured loans. The advisory provides basic “rules of thumb” for consumers who are considering a reverse mortgage—the advisory urges consumers to: (1) investigate other alternatives in addition to reverse mortgages; (2) remember that reverse mortgages generally make more sense the longer the consumer remains in the home; and (3) be wary of anyone trying to sell other products along with a reverse mortgage. The OCC urges consumers to consult with a qualified, independent housing counselor before entering into a reverse mortgage. OCC Consumer Advisory 2009-2 (September 24, 2009).
- Same Source of Repayment. On the specific facts presented, the same source of repayment test in 12 CFR 32.5(c)(1) does not result in the combination of loans to members of the Lower Sioux Indian Community with loans to other members or with a loan to the Community itself. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 979 (December 18, 2003).
- Service Fees for Loan Payoff Information. A national bank and its operating subsidiaries may charge expedited service fees for loan payoff information. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1069 (August 21, 2006).
- Share of Profits as Part of Interest. A national bank may: (1) take a share of a borrower’s profits as part of interest on loans, 12 CFR 7.1006; (2) negotiate percentage of profits bank will take; and (3) compensate a borrower for originating loans by providing the borrower with office space and paying the borrower’s expenses. 12 CFR 7.1004(a); OCC Interpretive Letter No. 956 (January 31, 2003).

OCC Interpretive Letter No. 244, reprinted in [1983-1984 Transfer Binder] Fed. Banking L. Rep. (CCH) ¶ 85,408 (January 26, 1982); 12 CFR 7.1006.
- Title Abstracting Services. A national bank and its subsidiaries may provide title abstracting services for the parent bank, for unaffiliated lenders, and for the occasional customer who requests the service even if no associated loan transaction exists. 12 USC 24(Seventh); Corporate Decision No. 98-26 (April 21, 1998).
- Volumetric Production Payment Loan Transaction. A volumetric production payment financing transaction, under which a national bank would provide financing to a hydrocarbon producer and, in return, would receive a limited overriding royalty interest in the producer's lease of an identified hydrocarbon reserve, is a permissible extension of credit. Before extending credit, the bank must notify its examiner-in-charge (EIC), in writing, of the proposed activities and must receive written notification of the EIC's supervisory no-objection. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1117 (May 19, 2009).

- Borrow Money and Pledge Assets. National banks have authority to borrow money and may pledge assets to secure their borrowings. 12 USC 24(Seventh); Wyman v. Wallace, 201 U.S. 230 (1906); OCC Interpretive Letter No. 378, reprinted in [1988-1989 Transfer Binder] Fed. Banking L. Rep. (CCH) ¶ 85,602 (February 6, 1987). National banks generally are prohibited from pledging assets to secure private deposits. Tex. & Pac. Ry. v. Pottorff, 291 U.S. 245 (1934).
- Certificates of Deposit Purchase and Sale of Participation. A national bank may offer participation interests in certificates of deposit purchased as agent from third parties on behalf of a number of the bank's depositors. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 385, reprinted in [1988-1989 Transfer Binder] Fed. Banking L. Rep. (CCH) ¶ 85,609 (June 19, 1987).
- Coin and Bullion. National banks may dispose of coins discovered in its vaults at fair market value, pursuant to 12 USC 24(Seventh) and even though that may exceed the value of the metallic content or the face value. See also Banking Circular 58 (Rev.). Since coins were acquired in the course of normal banking operations, disposal at fair market value does not constitute impermissible speculation. - Coins, Buying and Selling. National banks may buy and sell privately minted commemorative coins under their authority to buy and sell "exchange, coin, and bullion." 12 USC 24(Seventh); OCC Interpretive Letter No. 840 (September 21, 1998).

- Consumer Access/Discount Card Program. National banks may operate a consumer access/discount card program. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 678, reprinted in [1994-1995 Transfer Binder] Fed. Banking L. Rep. (CCH) ¶ 83,626 (July 6, 1995).
- Debt Cancellation and Debt Suspension Agreements. National banks may offer debt cancellation agreements providing for the discharge of an obligation upon the death or disability of a borrower. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 640, reprinted in [1993-1994 Transfer Binder] Fed. Banking L. Rep. (CCH) ¶ 83,527 (January 7, 1994); Interpretive Letter No. 903 (December 28, 2000). Similarly, national banks may offer credit card debt suspension agreements providing for suspension of a borrower’s repayment obligations in the event of the borrower’s disability or unemployment. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 827 (April 3, 1998); 12 CFR Part 37.
- Disposal of Real Property Acquired for Debts Previously Contracted (DPC). National banks may dispose of DPC real estate through a transfer to the banks’ community development corporation (CDC) subsidiary. The CDC may hold the property pursuant to 12 USC 24(Eleventh). National banks must comply with the requirements in 12 USC 29 to dispose of such real estate. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1131 (April 15, 2011).
- Dividends—Treatment of the Service Cost on Innovative Capital Instrument. “Service costs” paid on an innovative capital instrument by an operating subsidiary to third-party investors constitute a dividend for the purposes of 12 USC 60. However, to avoid double counting of the service costs, the bank may adjust its net income for distributions on innovative capital instruments that are treated as dividends. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1067 (February 28, 2006).
- Donation of Fundraising Item. A national bank may donate an item for a community fundraising raffle and be identified as the donor of the item in publicity issued by the raffle sponsors without violating the lottery prohibition of 12 USC 25a, provided that the publicity is not displayed on bank premises. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 900 (June 19, 2000).
- DPC Asset. The permissible holding period for an asset acquired in satisfaction of a debt previously contracted (DPC) is five years. The OCC may grant the bank an additional five years to dispose of the DPC personal property if the bank has made a good faith attempt to dispose of the asset within the original five-year period or disposal within five years would be detrimental to the bank. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 592, reprinted in [1992-1993 Transfer Binder] Fed. Banking L. Rep. (CCH) ¶ 83,417 (June 18, 1992).
- Employee Relocation Services. Letter provides that an operating subsidiary of a national bank may acquire, for a short period of time and subject to conditions requiring retransfer, title to the relocating employees’ residential real estate as incidental to the package of relocation services offered by the subsidiary. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 966 (May 12, 2003).

- Employee Wellness Programs and Prohibited Lotteries. Under 12 USC 25a and 12 USC 1463(e), national banks and federal savings associations are respectively prohibited from dealing in lottery tickets, announcing, advertising, or publicizing the existence of a lottery or a lottery winner, or permitting others to use institutional offices for any of those purposes. A lottery typically requires three elements: (1) the distribution of a prize; (2) according to chance; (3) for consideration. A weight loss challenge program to be offered to bank employees in which the employees paid an entry fee to participate in teams and teams were awarded prizes of up to $10,000 for meeting weight loss goals was not a lottery because the chance and consideration elements were not met. In contrast to chance, the winners of the program would be determined by effort, skill, and achievement. The entry fee was not consideration because, in addition to funding the cash prizes, it also functioned as payment for the services of the weight loss program. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1153 (May 11, 2015).
- Escrow Activities. A national bank's proposed escrow activities are part of the business of banking pursuant to 12 USC 24(Seventh) and 12 CFR 7.5001, 7.5002. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1041 (September 28, 2005).
- Federal Diversity Jurisdiction. In Wachovia Bank, National Association v. Schmidt, 546 U.S. 303 (2006), the Supreme Court held that for purposes of diversity jurisdiction under 12 USC 1348, a national bank is a citizen of the one state where it maintains its main office as set forth in the bank's articles of association. The Court's decision reversed a Fourth Circuit decision holding that a national bank is a citizen of every state in which it maintains a branch office or potentially any other physical presence. See Wachovia Bank, N.A. v. Schmidt, 388 F.3d 414 (4th Cir. 2004), rev'd, 546 U.S. 303 (2006).
- Foreign Investment Company Owning National Bank. A foreign-based global investment management company, which is not a bank holding company, is not covered by the International Banking Act, and is not subject to comprehensive consolidated supervision, may own a national bank, provided: the OCC would have access to all books and records of the bank's parent that concern the bank; through a written binding agreement the parent will provide capital maintenance and liquidity support to the bank; the bank will not engage in covered transactions with foreign affiliates unless the bank notifies the OCC in advance and maintains documentation on the transaction and has available for OCC review financial information on the affiliate; all transactions between the bank and any affiliate will be conducted subject to 12 USC 371c, 371c-1 or other applicable federal law; the bank will adopt and implement policies, procedures and internal controls reasonably designed to encompass anti-money laundering efforts; and the parent must maintain a designated agent in the United States. Conditional Approval No. 425 (November 8, 2000).
- Golden Parachute Payments. A U.S. district court granted the OCC and FDIC summary judgment in a challenge to the agencies' denial of a national bank's request for permission to make a severance payment and annual split dollar insurance premium payments to a terminated senior executive officer. The former executive officer challenged the interpretation of the golden parachute statute and regulations on which the agencies based their findings that the payments at issue were golden parachute payments and that reasonable grounds existed on which to base a denial. The court found that the agencies' interpretation and implementation of the law were reasonable. Knyal v. OCC, No. C 02-2851 PJH, 2003 WL 26465939 (N.D. Cal. November 25, 2003).

- Health Care Treatment Information. A national bank may electronically transmit health care treatment information from health care providers to insurance carriers, as part of providing cash management services to the parties. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 419, reprinted in [1988-1989 Transfer Binder] Fed. Banking L. Rep. (CCH) ¶ 85,643 (February 16, 1988).
- Indicia of Ownership of Real Property. A national bank operating subsidiary may acquire and hold certain indicia of ownership of real estate when incidental to the package of relocation services offered by that subsidiary. There are several restrictions and conditions: the subsidiary must use a nominee to hold legal title; the subsidiary may not use or enjoy the benefit of the property; the subsidiary may not manage the property; and the subsidiary must dispose of the indicia within 90 days. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 966 (May 12, 2003).
- Interest on Lawyers Trust Account Board/NOW Accounts. Interest-bearing negotiable order of withdrawal (NOW) accounts may be established at national banks for the purpose of receiving and holding qualified trust funds deposited under the Pennsylvania Supreme Court's Interest on Trust Account Program for the Minor Judiciary. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1017 (January 28, 2005).
- Internal Bank Financing Operations Offshore. A national bank may form an operating subsidiary in the Cayman Islands to engage in internal bank financial operations, provided the OCC would have access to all books and records, no activities were conducted offshore, and the subsidiary would be subject to OCC examination, supervision, and regulation. Conditional Approval No. 413 (September 22, 2000).
- Lease of Personal Property to an Affiliate Under 12 CFR Part 23. When a bank acts as the lessor of personal property and the lease is subject to Section 23A of the Federal Reserve Act and Federal Reserve Board Regulation W, the value of the transaction, i.e., the amount of the covered transaction, is the book value of the leased property. The leased property may serve as collateral for purposes of Section 23A and Regulation W. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1114 (April 9, 2009).
- Messenger Service. A national bank may operate a messenger service that will provide pickup and delivery of cash, checks, and other financial items for nonfinancial institution businesses having no deposit relationship with the bank. Items will be transported between facilities of such businesses, and between such businesses and their financial institutions. Corporate Decision No. 2003-9 (June 25, 2003).
- “On Us” Check Cashing Fees. National banks may charge a nonaccountholder a convenience fee for using a bank teller to cash an “on us” check. An “on us” check is a check drawn on the bank by one of the bank's customers. As noted in these letters, this fee is essentially compensating the bank for making cash immediately available to the payee; otherwise, the payee would have to wait for the check to clear through the payment system. These fees are authorized under 12 USC 24(Seventh) and 12 CFR 7.4002(a). OCC Interpretive Letter No. 932 (August 17, 2001); OCC Interpretive Letter 933 (August 17, 2001); OCC Interpretive Letter No. 934 (August 20, 2001).

- Order of Check Posting. A national bank’s decision concerning the order of posting checks presented for payment is a pricing decision authorized by 12 USC 24\(Seventh\) and 12 CFR 7.4002. This would permit the bank to pay the largest check first from an account in a given 24-hour cycle. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 916 (May 22, 2001).
- Payment Processor Guidance. OCC supervisory guidance to national banks discussing due diligence, underwriting, and monitoring of entities that process payments for telemarketers and other merchant clients, in order to control strategic, credit, transaction, reputation, and compliance risks, including risks associated with customer complaints, returned items, and potential unfair or deceptive acts or practices. OCC Bulletin 2008-12 (April 24, 2008).
- Postal Services. National banks may maintain, operate, and receive income from postal substations on banking premises, pursuant to U.S. Postal Service regulations. National banks may advertise, develop, and extend the services of the substation to attract customers. The services performed at the substations must be permitted by the U.S. Postal Service and may include meter stamping of letters and packages, and the sale of related insurance. National banks must keep the books and records of the substations, which are subject to inspection by the U.S. Postal Service, separate from those of other banking operations. 12 CFR 7.1010; 39 CFR 241.2. National banks may sell stamp collecting kits and stamps for collection in accordance with post office regulations, but must be full-fledged postal stations to do this. Letter from John E. Shockey, Deputy Chief Counsel (December 2, 1975).
- Printing Service. A national bank may engage in the printing of checks, drafts, loan payment coupons, and similar documents for use in the national bank’s business; engage in printing services that facilitate the general operation of the bank as a business enterprise, such as the printing of internal personnel forms; and provide printing services for affiliated banks. 12 USC 24(Seventh); OCC Interpretive Letter No. 811 (December 18, 1997).
- Purchasing and Selling Transferable State Tax Credits. A national bank is authorized under 12 USC 24(Seventh) to purchase and resell, as principal, transferable state tax credits. This is a financial intermediary activity and therefore part of the business of banking. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 948 (October 23, 2002).
- “Qualified Intermediary” for Reverse Like-Kind Exchanges. A national bank’s operating subsidiary, through limited liability corporation subsidiaries, may act as a “qualified intermediary” for investors interested in consummating tax-deferred “reverse like-kind exchanges” of real properties. The Internal Revenue Code, 26 USC 1031, permits like-kind exchanges, which allow investors to exchange certain investment property, including real property, for other investment property, subject to certain limitations. In a reverse like-kind exchange, investors identify and acquire replacement properties before disposing of relinquished properties. As a qualified intermediary, the operating subsidiary is an independent party that facilitates the process by acquiring an interest in the replacement real property without acquiring full legal title in the property, and by providing proper documentation to preserve the integrity of the transaction for Internal Revenue Service purposes. Corporate Decision No. 2001-30 (October 10, 2001).

- Real Estate Construction Services. A national bank may establish a wholly owned operating subsidiary to furnish administrative, management, and consulting services to unaffiliated real estate construction lenders and investors. The services may include project feasibility, cost, contract, environmental and seismic reviews; appraisals; loan document preparation; collateral and construction phase completion monitoring; syndicated loan lead agent tasks; and lender training on construction loan administration. Corporate Decision No. 2001-27 (September 13, 2001).
- Reverse Like-Kind Exchange Services. A national bank may serve as exchange accommodation titleholder for customers engaging in reverse like-kind exchange transactions. As part of this service, the bank may acquire a severely circumscribed, indirect interest in real estate being exchanged. Conditional Approval No. 706 (October 6, 2005).
- State Financial Institutions Tax. To be taxed by a state, a national bank must be taxed as if it were a state bank chartered by the state in which the bank has its principal office. 12 USC 548. Ohio's Financial Institutions Tax that allowed banks organized under state law to claim nonrefundable tax credits against state regulatory assessments—but did not extend similar tax credits to national banks—failed to treat a national bank with its principal office in Ohio as if it was a state bank chartered by Ohio. Consequently, it was the opinion of the OCC that the tax was not authorized under federal law. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1155 (September 17, 2015).
- Support Services, in General. National banks may act as agents for an individual or corporation without obtaining prior approval to exercise trust powers if the duties are nondiscretionary and purely ministerial in nature. The following are examples of these services:
 - Agent for Deposit Placement. A national bank may place deposits as agent for its customers with other financial institutions pursuant to 12 USC 24(Seventh). Investments Securities Letter No. 32, reprinted in [1989-1990 Transfer Binder] Fed. Banking L. Rep. (CCH) ¶ 83,038 (December 2, 1988). A national bank may also place deposits at foreign banks on behalf of customers on an agency basis and offer the service over the Internet. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 778 (March 20, 1997).
 - Agent for Purchasing or Selling Government Securities. National banks may act as agents in the purchase and sale of government securities. 12 CFR Part 13.
 - Agent for Purchasing or Selling Real Estate Limited Partnership Interests. National banks may act as agent in the purchase and sale of financial investment instruments, such as real estate limited partnership interests. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 420, reprinted in [1988-1989 Transfer Binder] Fed. Banking L. Rep. (CCH) ¶ 85,644 (March 14, 1988).

- Agent for Service of Process. A national bank’s subsidiary may act as an agent for service of process on behalf of a bank and/or its affiliates because furnishing services of this nature for a bank or its affiliates is part of or incidental to the business of banking. Corporate Decision No. 97-14 (March 4, 1997).
- Tax-Related Services. National banks may assist customers in preparing tax returns directly or through subsidiaries for any type of customer. 12 USC 24(Seventh); 12 CFR 7.1008.
- Travel Services and Foreign Exchange Activities. National banks may sell traveler’s checks and foreign currency, make travel-related loans, issue letters of credit and provide free travel information. National banks also may assist customers in placing orders for tickets with a travel agency and, in general, lease excess office space to a travel agency. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 339, reprinted in [1985-1987 Transfer Binder] Fed. Banking L. Rep. (CCH) ¶ 85,509 (May 16, 1985); OCC Interpretive Letter No. 342, reprinted in [1985-1987 Transfer Binder] Fed. Banking L. Rep. (CCH) ¶ 85,512 (May 22, 1985).
- Trucking Company, Credit and Other Services. National banks may offer credit, fleet management and tracking, inventory control, and accounting services to trucking companies. Letter from Peter Liebesman, Assistant Director, Legal Advisory Services Division (August 15, 1983).

Payment Services

- Cash Management. National banks may provide cash management services. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 756 (November 5, 1996).
- Cash Management Computer Software. National banks or bank operating subsidiaries may invest in a limited liability company that develops, produces, and distributes or sells cash management software. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 677, reprinted in [1994-1995 Transfer Binder] Fed. Banking L. Rep. (CCH) ¶ 83,625 (June 28, 1995); OCC Interpretive Letter No. 756 (November 5, 1996); OCC Interpretive Letter No. 284, reprinted in [1983-1984 Transfer Binder] Fed. Banking L. Rep. (CCH) ¶ 85,448 (March 26, 1984).
- Cashiers’ Checks, Money Orders, Savings Bonds, and Travelers Checks. National banks may issue, collect, and process cashiers’ checks and money orders. National banks may also sell savings bonds and travelers checks. 12 USC 24(Seventh).
- Check Cashing and Processing. National banks may cash and process checks, and may provide check and credit card verification services. 12 USC 24(Seventh).
- Check Certification. National banks may certify checks, provided the person, firm, or corporation drawing the check has sufficient funds on deposit to cover it. 12 USC 501. National banks may guarantee drafts drawn against a bank customer. Letter from Thomas G. DeShazo, Deputy Comptroller of the Currency (October 29, 1968).

- Letters of Credit. National banks may issue and commit to issue letters of credit and other independent undertakings within the scope of the applicable laws or rules of practice recognized by law. Under such letters of credit and other independent undertakings, the bank's obligation to honor depends upon the presentation of specified documents and not upon nondocumentary conditions or resolution of questions of fact or law at issue between the account party and the beneficiary. A national bank may also confirm or otherwise undertake to honor or purchase specified documents upon their presentation under another person's independent undertaking within the scope of such laws or rules. 12 CFR 7.1016.
- Payment Systems Subjecting a Bank to Open-Ended Liability. A national bank may become a member of a real time gross settlement system that offers account and payment services to its customers. If membership in the payment system exposes the bank to open-ended liability for the system's operational losses, the bank must obtain a written no-objection letter from its examiner-in-charge (EIC) before joining. The EIC may issue the no-objection letter to the bank if the bank is able to demonstrate to the satisfaction of the EIC that: (1) the payment system appropriately mitigates operational risk; and (2) the bank can appropriately monitor and manage its potential risk exposures. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1140 (January 13, 2014).

Fiduciary Activities

- Fiduciary Activity, in General. National banks and federal savings associations with fiduciary powers (which may be granted at the time of chartering or subsequently on application to the OCC) are subject to federal rules that define fiduciary standards and authorize banks and savings associations to operate in the same capacities as fiduciaries are permitted to operate in the states where the bank or savings association conducts its trust activities. 12 USC 92a, 1464(n); 12 CFR Parts 9, 150. National banks also may operate as limited purpose trust banks and need not engage in all banking functions. Fiduciary activities include:
 - Collective Investment Funds Withdrawals. A national bank's model-driven funds, established pursuant to 12 CFR 9.18, may allocate costs to individual participants being admitted to or withdrawing from such funds in the same manner and to the same extent as Section 9.18 index funds. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 919 (November 9, 2001). Interpretive Letter No. 919 stated that the index the model-driven fund sought to outperform must be established and maintained by an independent third party. In Interpretive Letter No. 1120, the OCC concluded that a model-driven fund may still allocate costs in the same manner if the funds are affiliated with or not structurally independent of the bank, provided certain conditions are met to maintain the fund's independence. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1120 (February 20, 2009).
 - Collective Investments Funds, Fees for Admissions and Withdrawals From Model-Driven Funds. A national bank may continue to charge fees for admissions and withdrawals from its model-driven funds for a 90-day period following an affiliate's proposed acquisition of the benchmark indices used for the funds, provided that the bank continues to operate separately from the affiliate. The OCC agreed to review the matter after the acquisition to determine whether the bank could continue its activities after the 90-day period. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1119 (September 19, 2008).

- Collective Investment Fund Redemption Requests. A national bank may extend the allowable time period for satisfying redemption requests from participants in the bank’s collective investment fund under certain conditions. The fund held primarily commercial real estate assets and, because of current economic and market conditions and the large volume of redemption requests the bank was unable to satisfy all the requests within the one-year notice period required by the OCC. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1121 (June 18, 2009).
- Collective Investment Trust Admissions and Withdrawals. Annual admissions and withdrawals are permitted where circumstances warrant under 12 CFR 9.18, and therefore an exemption from Section 9.18 is not required. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 920 (December 6, 2001).
- Collective Investment Trust Withdrawals. A national bank, as trustee, may allow participant withdrawals from a collective investment fund solely at the bank’s discretion, or when a participant becomes ineligible to continue as a participant in the fund. 12 CFR 9.18 does not mandate the frequency of admissions and withdrawals from collective investment funds. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 936 (May 22, 2002).
- Collective Investment Funds (CIFs)/Common Trust Funds. National banks may invest fiduciary assets in CIFs. 12 CFR 9.18. National banks may charge a different management fee to CIF participants, commensurate with the amount and types of services they provide to participants. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 829 (April 9, 1998).
- Custody Trust Ledger Deposit Account Program. A national bank’s custody activities with respect to the described Custody Trust Ledger Deposit Account Program are permissible, and the program’s non-cash earnings credit feature is not inconsistent with safe and sound banking practices. The program provides for the deposit by broker-dealers of customer funds in accordance with SEC Rule 15c3-3 (special reserve bank account for the exclusive benefit of customers) to accounts maintained in the bank’s trust department. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1078 (April 19, 2007).
- Investment of Employees Benefit Account Assets. A national bank may invest assets of tax-exempt employee benefit accounts held by the bank in any capacity (including agent), in Part 9 collective investment funds, provided the fund itself is exempt from federal taxation. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 884 (January 13, 2000).
- Nationwide Trust Services. A national bank with fiduciary powers may serve trust customers nationwide, including at trust representative offices where the bank performs services for trust customers, but does not conduct any of the core activities (receiving deposits, paying checks, or lending money) that would make it a branch. A bank with fiduciary powers may serve trust customers without regard to state requirements that restrict entry, offices, marketing, or otherwise attempt to limit the exercise of lawful national bank fiduciary business, including licensing requirements. 12 CFR 9.7; OCC Interpretive Letter No. 866 (October 8, 1999); OCC Interpretive Letter No. 872 (October 28, 1999).

- Real Estate Brokerage and Related Activities as a Fiduciary. A national bank with fiduciary powers may engage in certain real estate brokerage and related activities as a fiduciary (e.g., management of real property as agent or trustee for its customers). Letter from Donelle H. Ward, Director for Analysis (December 20, 1990); Letter from William B. Glidden, Senior Attorney, Legal Advisory Services Division (September 13, 1984); OCC Interpretive Letter No. 265, reprinted in [1983-1984 Transfer Binder] Fed. Banking L. Rep. (CCP) ¶ 85,429 (July 14, 1983).
- Self-Deposit in Short-Term Investment Fund. A national bank may pool individual fiduciary accounts awaiting investment or distribution and self-deposit them in a short-term investment fund. Assuming applicable law in states in which the bank does business and plans to self-deposit does not prohibit such deposits, 12 CFR 9.10(b) provides the applicable authority required by 12 CFR 9.12 for the bank to self-deposit such funds or to deposit them with affiliates. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 969 (April 28, 2003).
- Short-Term Investment Fund. Under 12 CFR 9.18(c)(5), a bank may obtain approval from the OCC to operate a short-term investment fund (STIF) that does not comport with a particular provision in Section 9.18. The OCC approved a STIF for a national bank that had the primary objective of maintaining a stable net asset value (NAV) of one euro (€1.00) per participating interest. The use of a stable NAV of €1.00 (rather than $1.00) would not materially affect the risk of loss to principal for each participating interest in the STIF and would not materially affect the risks to the bank. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1154 (September 25, 2015).

Insurance and Annuities Activities

- Bank-Owned Life Insurance (BOLI). A national bank may continue to hold a separate account BOLI investment that in turns holds interests in instruments with characteristics of debt securities and a rate of return, a portion of which is linked to equity securities, provided the bank's examiner-in-charge has no supervisory objection. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1030 (May 26, 2005).⁶
- DPC Life Insurance. National banks may acquire life insurance as satisfaction of a borrower's debts previously contracted (DPC). The bank, however, must comply with holding period limitations applicable to DPC assets. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 592, reprinted in [1992-1993 Transfer Binder] Fed. Banking L. Rep. (CCH) ¶ 83,417 (June 18, 1992); OCC Bulletin 2004-56 (December 7, 2004).
- Excess Lines Insurance. Following the merger of a state-chartered bank into a national bank, the national bank may retain an operating subsidiary of the former state bank that provides “excess lines” insurance coverage for the parent bank. That is, the subsidiary provides liability insurance for the parent bank in excess of the limits for the bank’s primary liability insurance that is obtained from a third party. This is an “authorized product” within the meaning of Section 302 of the Gramm–Leach–Bliley Act. CRA Decision No. 125 (December 21, 2004).

- Homeowners Insurance Products. A situation involving a particular solicitation letter offering homeowners insurance products to loan customers of a national bank subsidiary does not involve a prohibited tying arrangement under 12 USC 1972. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 991 (March 11, 2004).
- Insurance Consumer Protections. Interagency responses to questions relating to retail sales practices, solicitations, advertising or offers of insurance products and annuities by depository institutions. OCC Bulletin 2001-43 (August 17, 2001).
- Insurance Information-Sharing Agreements. The OCC has entered into insurance information-sharing agreements with insurance regulators in 49 states as well as the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico. agreement with the OCC and an indemnification agreement with the bank's holding company. The subsidiary agreed to hold the securities for a limited period of time, after which the holding company will be required to repurchase the securities. The holding company agreed to indemnify the bank against certain potential losses in connection with these purchases. The bank was required to seek prior OCC supervisory no-objection before terminating, modifying, or amending the agreements described in the letter. - Auction Rate Securities Operating Agreements. A national bank may request the OCC to terminate conditions of an operating agreement and to certain modifications when the purposes of the operating agreement have been achieved. Once the bank holding company repurchased the auction rate securities (ARS) from the bank in the time frame required and indemnified the bank for certain losses or expenses incurred as a result of the ARS acquisition, the condition imposed in writing and enforceable under 12 USC 1818 was satisfied. The OCC agreed to the termination of the condition. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1138 (October 7, 2013); OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1137 (October 7, 2013).

The circumstances involve a factually complex financial transaction. The financial warranties, in effect, guarantee that the investment structuring advice and asset allocation monitoring services provided by the bank in the creation and operation of the fund will result in the designed return to investors. Known in the industry as “principal protected” funds, the fund is designed so that investors will not lose any principal over a designated holding period and will earn a minimum fixed rate of return. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1010 (September 7, 2004).

- Fixed-Rate, Cumulative Preferred Securities. A national bank has authority under 12 USC 24(Seventh), and in accordance with 12 CFR Part 1, to purchase and hold for its own account shares of fixed-rate cumulative preferred securities. The securities have characteristics typically associated with debt instruments, rather than common stock. This conclusion is subject to the condition that the bank will not exercise conversion rights so long as the securities are held by the bank or any subsidiary. These ARS and APRS may be purchased from current and former customers of the operating subsidiary and may be held by the subsidiary for up to 120 days. If the operating subsidiary is unable to sell the securities within 120 days of purchase, the savings association’s holding company must purchase the ARS and APRS at a value equal to the greater of their fair value or the price the subsidiary paid the customer to buy them back. If a customer tenders an ARS or APRS that the subsidiary is ineligible to buy, the savings association’s holding company must buy it from the subsidiary on a same-day basis in a riskless principal transaction. Holding this interest is an integral part of the compensation structure for investment advisers to private investment funds, and this investment is permissible as an activity that is incidental to the authority of a national bank's subsidiary to provide investment advisory services. OCC Conditional Approval No. 819 (September 7, 2007).

Walker, Senior Deputy Comptroller for National Operations (May 21, 1986).
- Securities Lending. National banks may lend securities from their own investment or trading accounts or from safekeeping, trust, or pension accounts of their customers. Banking Circular No. 196 (May 7, 1985).
- Securities Transactions Reports. For a national bank that has both manual and automated processes to track employee securities trades, 12 CFR Part 12 requirements that certain covered bank officers and employees report to the bank within 10 business days after the end of the calendar quarter all personal transactions in securities made by them in which they have a beneficial interest are waived. The bank receives all necessary data more promptly than the rule requires, either directly from its brokerage affiliate or through duplicate brokerage statements and confirmations of individual trades that the bank receives from other brokerages. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1011 (October 4, 2004).
- Sweeps. National banks may sweep funds from a corporate demand deposit account to a proprietary money market mutual fund account to purchase fund shares. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 760 (November 14, 1996); OCC Interpretive Letter No. 688, reprinted in [1995-1996 Transfer Binder] Fed. Banking L. Rep. (CCH) ¶ 81-003 (May 31, 1995).
- Transfer Agent. A national bank may act as a transfer or fiscal agent and may guarantee the signature of an endorser or transferor of securities. 12 CFR 9.20; Letter from William B. Glidden, Assistant Director, Legal Advisory Services Division (December 5, 1985). The OCC is the appropriate regulatory agency for national banks acting as transfer agents. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 561, reprinted in [1991-1992 Transfer Binder] Fed. Banking L. Rep. (CCH) ¶ 83,312 (June 24, 1991). Section 17A(c) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 requires a bank transfer agent to be registered with its appropriate bank regulator. 15 USC 78q-1.
- Transfer Agent Fees as Conflict of Interest. A bank receiving sub-transfer agent fees from investing fiduciary assets in a mutual fund could be viewed as falling within the self-dealing prohibition of 12 CFR 9.12. The bank placed itself in a position of divided loyalty by entering into an agreement to receive third-party compensation as a result of the management of funds belonging to others. Unless the bank, acting as the sub-transfer agent, discloses the fees it will receive as result of the sub-transfer agent arrangement, it could potentially violate 12 CFR 9.12. Trust Interpretation Letter No. 237, reprinted in [1989-1990 Transfer Binder] Fed. Banking L. Rep. (CCH) ¶ 83,077 (October 30, 1989).

- Trust Bank Subsidiary and Limited Equity Investment Incident to Investment Management Activities. The OCC conditionally approved a national bank’s application to establish a limited-purpose national trust bank as a subsidiary and for the trust bank to establish an operating subsidiary that would organize and manage two private investment funds. In connection with the operating subsidiary’s investment management activities, it would hold special limited-equity interests in the two private investment funds. Holding such interests is an integral part of the compensation structure for investment advisers to private investment funds, and this investment is permissible as an activity that is incidental to the authority of a national bank’s subsidiary to provide investment advisory services. The conditional approval also required the trust bank to maintain minimum capital and liquidity levels, to implement systems and controls to manage risks associated with organizing and managing private investment funds, to notify the OCC of the departure of the investment manager of the operating subsidiary, and to notify the OCC of changes in the trust bank’s business plan. OCC Conditional Approval No. 804 (May 1, 2007).
- Underwriting and Dealing. National banks directly, and through operating subsidiaries, may underwrite, deal in, and act as agent in the purchase and sale of various types of securities, including U.S. government securities, municipal general obligation and revenue bonds, and asset-backed securities. 12 USC 24\(Seventh\); 12 CFR 1.3, Part 12.

Derivatives

[Editor’s note: The entries that follow below generally identify and summarize securities-related activities that are authorized under the National Bank Act. These activities may also be subject to additional laws and regulations, including restrictions imposed under the Dodd–Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act, e.g., Title VII generally (regulation of the over-the-counter swaps markets); 15 USC 8305 (Section 716 of Title VII), and the Volcker Rule (12 USC 1851; 12 CFR Part 44). Institutions must comply with all laws that apply to a particular activity.]

- Derivatives, in General. National banks and their operating subsidiaries may advise, structure, arrange, and execute transactions, as agent or principal, in connection with interest rate, basis rate, currency, currency coupon, and cash-settled commodity, commodity price index, equity and equity index swaps, and other related derivative products, such as caps, collars, floors, swaptions, forward rate agreements, and other similar products commonly known as derivatives. National banks may originate, trade, and make markets in these products. National banks may arrange matched swaps or enter into unmatched swaps on an individual or portfolio basis and may offset unmatched positions with exchange-traded futures and options contracts or over-the-counter cash-settled options. National banks may provide financial advice and counseling for these activities as permissible incidental activities under 12 USC 24(Seventh). OCC Interpretive Letter No. 725 (May 10, 1996).

- Cash-Settled Options and Forwards on Equity Securities. A national bank may engage in cash-settled options and forwards on equity securities if part of the bank’s customer-driven, non-proprietary financial intermediation business and if the bank has in place an appropriate risk management and measurement process for its derivative and hedging activities. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 949 (September 19, 2002).
- Credit Derivatives. National banks may enter into credit derivatives, including credit default swaps (CDS). OCC Bulletin 96-43 (August 12, 1996). CDS and CDS index activities are permissible as part of the business of banking as functional equivalents of standby letters of credit and as permissible financial intermediation activities. Bank permissible CDS activities include engaging in market making activities in CDS and CDS indices and portfolio-hedging the swaps. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1047 (December 20, 2005).
- Customer-Driven Derivatives Transactions—Inflation Indices. A national bank may engage in customer-driven, perfectly matched, cash-settled derivative transactions on inflation indices. Before the bank may engage in the transactions, the bank must notify its examiner-in-charge (EIC), in writing, of the proposed activities and must receive written notification of the EIC’s supervisory no-objection, based on the EIC’s evaluation of the adequacy of the bank’s risk measurement and management systems and controls to enable the bank to engage in the proposed activities on a safe and sound basis, and the EIC’s evaluation of any other supervisory considerations relevant to the particular proposal. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1079 (April 19, 2007).
- Customer-Driven Derivatives Transactions—Metal Derivatives. National banks and their foreign branches (banks) may engage in customer-driven, metal derivative transactions that settle in cash or by transitory title transfer and that are hedged on a portfolio basis with derivatives that settle in cash or by transitory title transfer. Before a bank may engage in such transactions, a national bank must notify its examiner-in-charge (EIC), in writing, of the proposed activities and must receive written supervisory no-objection. The EIC’s no-objection is based on an evaluation of the adequacy of the bank’s risk measurement and management systems and controls to enable the bank to engage in the proposed activities on a safe and sound basis, and the EIC’s evaluation of any other supervisory considerations relevant to the particular proposal. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1073 (October 19, 2006).
- Customer-Driven Derivatives Transactions—Specified Property Indices. A national bank may engage in customer-driven, perfectly matched, cash-settled derivative transactions on certain specified property indices. Before the bank may engage in the transactions, the bank must notify its examiner-in-charge (EIC), in writing, of the proposed activities and must receive written notification of the EIC’s supervisory no-objection, based on the EIC’s evaluation of the adequacy of the bank’s risk measurement and management systems and controls to enable the bank to engage in the proposed activities on a safe and sound basis, and the EIC’s evaluation of any other supervisory considerations relevant to the particular proposal. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1081 (May 15, 2007).

- Customer-Driven Property Index Derivatives Transactions—Broad-Based Property Indices. A national bank may engage in customer-driven, perfectly matched, cash-settled property index derivative transactions on regularly produced broad-based property indices that use appraisal- and sales-based data on foreign and domestic commercial and residential real estate. Before the bank may engage in these transactions, the bank must notify its examiner-in-charge (EIC), in writing, of the proposed activities and must receive written notification of the EIC’s supervisory no-objection. The no-objection is based on the EIC’s evaluation of the adequacy of the bank’s risk measurement and management systems and controls to enable the bank to engage in the proposed activities on a safe and sound basis, and the EIC’s evaluation of any other supervisory considerations relevant to the particular proposal. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1089 (October 15, 2007).
- Derivatives Transactions. A national bank trust company may use cash-settled derivatives linked to the S&P 500 Index to hedge the market risk associated with the fees it charges customers as part of its investment advisory activities. Before engaging in the activities, the national trust company must demonstrate to the satisfaction of the OCC’s Supervisory Office that it has established an appropriate risk measurement and management and compliance process for the proposed activities. The Board of Directors of the national bank trust company must also execute an operating agreement with the OCC to ensure the activities are conducted in a safe and sound manner. This is a condition imposed in writing that is enforceable under 12 USC 1818. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1037 (August 9, 2005).
- Derivatives Transactions—Specified Commodities. A national bank may engage in customer-driven, perfectly matched, cash-settled derivative transactions on specified commodities, provided the bank’s examiner-in-charge is satisfied that the bank has adequate risk management and measurement systems and controls to conduct the activities on a safe and sound basis. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1039 (September 13, 2005).
- Derivatives Transactions—Below-Investment Grade Bonds. A national bank may hedge the risks arising from bank permissible, customer-driven derivative transactions using below-investment grade bonds. However, before the bank commences the proposed activities, the bank’s examiner-in-charge must be satisfied that the bank has adequate risk management and measurement systems and controls to conduct the activities on a safe and sound basis. The limitations of 12 CFR Part 1 applicable to investment securities would not apply to these transactions, rather the transactions would be subject to standards applicable to derivatives activities. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1064 (July 13, 2006).
- Derivatives Transactions—Frozen Concentrate Orange Juice, Polypropylene. A national bank may engage in customer-driven, perfectly matched, cash-settled derivative transactions on frozen concentrate orange juice, low density polyethylene and polypropylene, and certain reference assets permitted under OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1039 (September 13, 2005), provided the bank's examiner-in-charge is satisfied that the bank has adequate risk management and measurement systems and controls to conduct the activities on a safe and sound basis. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1056 (March 29, 2006).

- Derivatives Transactions—Hogs, Lumber, Corrugated Cardboard, Polystyrene. A national bank may engage in customer-driven, perfectly matched, cash-settled derivative transactions (such as swaps, options, forwards, caps, floors, collars and futures) where payments are based on prices of (i) hogs (including pork bellies), (ii) lumber, (iii) corrugated cardboard (including new and recycled), and (iv) polystyrene. Before doing so, however, the bank's examiner-in-charge must be satisfied that the bank has adequate risk management and measurement systems and controls to conduct the activities on a safe and sound basis. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1063 (June 1, 2006).
- Derivatives Transactions—Polypropylene, Corrugated Cardboard, Dow Jones AIG Commodity Index. A national bank may engage in customer-driven, perfectly matched, cash-settled derivative transactions (such as swaps, options, forwards, caps, floors, collars and futures) where payments are based on prices of (i) polypropylene: injection molding (copoly), (ii) old corrugated cardboard #11, and (iii) the Dow Jones AIG Commodity Index, provided the bank's examiner-in-charge is satisfied that the bank has adequate risk management and measurement systems and controls to conduct the activities on a safe and sound basis. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1059 (April 13, 2006).
- Derivatives Transactions—Portfolio-Hedged Coal Derivatives. A national bank may engage in customer-driven coal derivative transactions that settle in cash or by transitory title transfer and that are hedged on a portfolio basis with derivative and spot transactions that settle in cash or by transitory title transfer, provided the bank's examiner-in-charge is satisfied that the bank has adequate risk management and measurement systems and controls to conduct the activities on a safe and sound basis. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1060 (April 26, 2006).
- Derivatives Transactions—Commodities/Related Indices. A national bank may engage in customer-driven, perfectly matched, cash-settled derivative transactions with payments based on commodities/related indices that fit within 11 specified categories. Before a national bank may engage in such transactions on commodities/indices not previously reviewed by the bank's examiner-in-charge (EIC), the bank must notify its EIC, in writing, of the proposed activities and must receive written notification of the EIC's supervisory no-objection, based on the EIC's evaluation of the adequacy of the bank's risk measurement and management systems and controls to enable the bank to engage in the proposed activities on a safe and sound basis, and the EIC's evaluation of any other supervisory considerations relevant to the particular proposal. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1065 (July 24, 2006).
- Derivative Transactions—Longevity Indices. A national bank may act as a financial intermediary in customer-driven, perfectly matched, cash-settled derivative transactions referencing longevity indices. The derivatives involve making financial payments based on the performance of indices that track mortality and longevity data of national populations. By engaging in the described activities, the bank will not be providing insurance in a state as principal, as generally prohibited by Gramm–Leach–Bliley Act Section 302. Before the bank may engage in the transactions, the bank must notify its examiner-in-charge (EIC), in writing, of the proposed activities and must receive written notification of the EIC’s supervisory no-objection. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1110 (January 30, 2009).

- Edge Corporation’s Holding of Equity Securities for Hedging Purposes. Subject to certain conditions, it is legally permissible for a national bank to purchase and hold equity securities to hedge customer-driven, bank permissible equity derivative transactions. As a matter of policy, the OCC has determined that a national bank should not acquire equity securities that constitute more than five percent of a class of stock of any issuer (Five Percent Policy). The OCC’s Five Percent Policy does not apply to equities held by a bank’s Edge corporation subsidiary. The OCC does not apply the Five Percent Policy to holdings of an Edge corporation subsidiary because an Edge corporation subsidiary has authority under the Federal Reserve Act to invest in companies that is distinct and separate from the authority in the National Bank Act. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 924 (January 2, 2002).
- Electricity Derivatives. A national bank may expand its financial intermediation business to include customer-driven, electricity derivative transactions that involve transitory title transfers as an activity incidental to banking, provided the bank has established, to the satisfaction of its examiner-in-charge, an appropriate risk measurement and management process for the activities. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 962 (April 21, 2003).
- Electricity Derivative and Hedging Activities. A national bank may conduct customer-driven, cash-settled derivatives business based on electricity prices, and related hedging activities, as an extension of its existing energy-related commodities derivatives business, if the bank’s examiner-in-charge is satisfied that it has an appropriate risk management process for its electricity derivative and hedging activities. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 937 (June 27, 2002).
- Emissions Derivative Transactions. A national bank may engage in customer-driven, physically settled emissions derivative transactions and hedge the risk of these transactions with physical transactions in emission allowances. The bank must establish an appropriate risk measurement and management process to conduct the activities on a safe and sound basis that is satisfactory to its examiner-in-charge. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1040 (September 15, 2005).
- Equity Derivative Transactions. National banks may engage in equity derivative transactions. National banks may offer time deposit accounts, certificates of deposit, or contracts that pay interest at a rate based on the gain in designated equity indices, including the S&P 500 Index. National banks may engage in swap activities tied to equities and equity indices. A bank may take positions in equities to hedge bank permissible equity derivatives originated by customers for their independent and valid business purposes, if the bank: (1) provides the OCC information about its derivative business and proposed hedging activities, including their effectiveness and efficiency in reducing risks; (2) establishes that the bank has an appropriate risk management process in place; and (3) obtains supervisory approval from the OCC. Decision of the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency on the Request by Chase Manhattan Bank, N.A., to Offer the Chase Market Index Investment Deposit Account, 1988 OCC Ltr. LEXIS 266 (August 8, 1988); Inv. Co. Inst. v. Ludwig, 884 F. Supp. 4 (D.D.C. 1995); Letter from Ellen Broadman, Director, Securities and Corporate Practices Division (October 29, 1998); OCC Interpretive Letter No. 652, reprinted in [1994 Transfer Binder] Fed. Banking L. Rep. (CCH) ¶ 83,600 (September 13, 1994); OCC Interpretive Letter No. 892 (September 13, 2000).

Before the bank may engage in physical hedges involving these equity securities for which it has not received a supervisory no-objection, the bank must notify its examiner-in-charge (EIC), in writing, and must receive written notification of the EIC’s supervisory no-objection. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1090 (October 25, 2007).
- Equity Derivative Transactions with Affiliates and Subsidiaries. A national bank may enter into equity derivatives transactions with certain affiliates and subsidiaries that mirror the affiliates’ and subsidiaries’ transactions with their customers, and the bank may hedge the risks of those transactions in the same manner as it hedges the risks of its existing derivatives business (with derivatives and physical equity positions), provided the bank’s examiner-in-charge has no supervisory objection. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1018 (February 10, 2005).
- Equity Index Derivatives. A national bank, with approval of its examiner-in-charge, may engage in customer-driven equity index derivatives transactions and may use baskets of securities to hedge its risk exposures to the index swaps where the baskets do not exactly match the underlying index, but are designed to replicate the sector and industry weightings and general risks of the index. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1033 (June 14, 2005).
- Financial Intermediation Transactions—Electricity. A national bank may engage in electricity derivative transactions and hedges, settled in cash and by transitory title transfer, as part of, or incidental to, its existing financial intermediation business in energy-related commodities derivatives, provided the bank has established an appropriate risk measurement and management process for the activities and the bank’s examiner-in-charge expresses no supervisory objection. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1025 (April 6, 2005).

- Financial Intermediation Transactions— Risk Indices Associated with National Events and Catastrophes. A national bank may act as a financial intermediary in customer-driven, perfectly matched, cash-settled derivative transactions referencing indices associated with natural catastrophic event risk. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1101 (July 7, 2008).
- Foreign Branch Membership in the London Clearing House. A national bank, via its London branch, may join the London Clearing House as a SwapClear Member to clear interest derivative contracts. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 929 (February 11, 2002).
- Hedging Credit Risk. A national bank may use debt securities that are not investment grade debt securities or the credit equivalents thereof, to hedge bank permissible derivative, including credit derivative, transactions. A national bank may purchase cash-settled options on futures contracts on bank impermissible commodities to hedge the credit risk in its agricultural loan portfolio. Before a national bank may engage in the activity, the OCC must affirm that the bank has an effective risk management process in place. An effective risk management process includes board supervision, managerial and staff expertise, comprehensive policies and operating procedures, risk identification, measurement and management information systems, as well as effective risk control functions that oversee and ensure the continuing appropriateness of the risk management process. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 896 (August 21, 2000); OCC Bulletin 96-43 (August 12, 1996).
- Holding Risks From Bank Permissible, Customer-Driven Derivative Transactions. A national bank with an examiner-in-charge-approved hedging program may execute cash and physically-settled equity derivative transactions, and hold long or short positions in equities or below investment grade bonds to hedge risks arising from the transactions. A national bank may hedge residual risks arising from a hedge that remain when a counterparty terminates the underlying hedged transaction. In limited circumstances, a national bank may cross-hedge its equity derivatives (i.e., use one security or a basket of securities to hedge the risk arising from a transaction with another, different security, with similar characteristics). OCC Interpretive Letter No. 935 (May 14, 2002).
- Holding Securities to Hedge Equity Derivatives Transactions. Subject to prior supervisory approval, national banks may take positions in equity securities solely to hedge bank permissible equity derivative transactions originated by customers for their independent business purposes, subject to certain qualifications and quantitative limits. National banks may not hold the securities for speculative purposes. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 892 (September 8, 2000).
- Hedging With Credit Default Swaps and Below-Investment-Grade Debt. A national bank may purchase and hold below-investment-grade debt in connection with a comprehensive program to hedge the counterparty credit risk exposure that arises from its contingent credit default swap activities. The letter concludes that the bank may engage in the transactions it proposes, where the bank's examiner-in-charge is satisfied that the bank has adequate risk management and measurement systems and controls and expresses no supervisory objection to the activity. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1051 (February 15, 2006).

- Membership in Independent System Operators and Regional Transmission Organizations. A national bank may become a member of regional Independent System Operators (ISOs) and Regional Transmission Organizations (RTOs) to execute electricity derivatives transactions that the OCC previously has found to be permissible for the bank, subject to the limitations set forth in 12 USC 84 and 12 CFR Part 32 and any additional limitations. The bank is also required to notify its examiner-in-charge (EIC) and receive written notification of the EIC's supervisory no-objection before becoming a member of an ISO or RTO. - Membership in IntercontinentalExchange U.S. Trust (ICE Trust). A national bank may become a clearing member of ICE Trust, a clearinghouse for over-the-counter credit default swaps. The bank's exposure to the ICE Trust for the defaults of other members is subject to the lending limit in 12 USC 84 or any lower limit set by the examiner-in-charge (EIC). Before the bank may become an ICE Trust clearing member, the bank must establish a comprehensive risk management framework to govern the risks associated with its membership, and receive a written supervisory no-objection from its EIC. Other national banks may rely on the letter to become clearing members of ICE Trust, but must obtain prior written EIC approval. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1113 (March 4, 2009).

Tying

- Underwriting Services Conditioned on Bank's Letter of Credit. A national bank may condition the offering of its securities underwriting services on the use of the bank's letter of credit to secure the bond issue. The traditional bank product exception of 12 USC 1972(1) permits a bank to tie any product or service to a loan, discount, deposit, or trust service offered by that bank. The direct advance of funds to a borrower through a letter of credit is well recognized in the industry as a traditional bank product. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 982 (September 29, 2003).

Conditional Approval No. 339 (November 16, 1999).

Electronic Bill Presentment

- Electronic Bill Payment. National banks may invest in an Internet electronic payment system as a complement to existing Internet bill presentment services. The system would also permit customers to make payments not linked to a presented bill. Conditional Approval No. 389 (May 19, 2000).

Corporate Decision No. 2002-11 (June 28, 2002).
- Collection of Corporate Card Use Data. A national bank may establish an operating subsidiary that will purchase and then sell or license data processing software that automatically collects information on corporate card use and then merges the data, generates invoices, and approves and makes payments. These electronic payment initiation products will allow trading parties with no previous trading relationship to complete online purchases or trades and simultaneously arrange for payments through their existing banking relationships. The proposed system is a business-to-bank payment initiation service, not an interbank payment system. Corporate Decision No. 2002-4 (February 18, 2002).
- Services to Internet Merchants. A national bank may enable small business merchants to acquire a package of electronic services that allows the merchants to create online stores and process electronic payments for purchases made over the Internet. The national bank, under its authority to act as a finder, can refer the merchants to another unaffiliated company that provides website building software and web hosting services. The bank can provide authorization and processing services necessary for the merchants to accept online credit and debit card payments in a secure environment. The bank can also provide the merchants with reports on the activity of their online stores and answers to "frequently asked questions" on the use of the web design software based upon answers prepared and supplied by the software company. Finally, the bank also may help other financial institutions to market as finders this package of electronic commerce services to their own merchant customers. Conditional Approval No. 436 (December 20, 2000).
- Virtual Malls. National banks may operate a "virtual mall," i.e., a bank-hosted set of webpages with a collection of links to third-party websites organized by product type and available to bank customers, so that they can shop for a range of financial and non-financial products and services via links to websites of third-party vendors. Merchants may electronically confirm payment authorization before shipping goods. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 875 (October 31, 1999).

Electronic Correspondent Services

- Electronic Correspondent Services. A national bank's operating subsidiary may sell computer network services and related hardware to other financial institutions as a correspondent banking service and, thus, part of the business of banking. A subsidiary's sale of full function hardware as part of a package of network services is "incidental" to those correspondent services. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 754 (November 6, 1996).

Electronic Storage and Safekeeping

- Electronic Storage and Safekeeping. As a modern version of national banks' traditional safekeeping function, a national bank may provide an integrated, online information service for secure web-based document storage and retrieval of documents and files containing personal information or valuable confidential trade or business information. Data can be stored on systems controlled by the bank and will be accessible by customers through the Internet or a dedicated line. Except for storage, access, and retrieval, the bank will not process or manipulate the information stored. The bank may also offer its customers the ability to grant third parties controlled access to the stored documents and files so as to enable the use of document collaboration tools. Conditional Approval No. 479 (July 27, 2001).

The bank must comply with OCC guidance with respect to co-brands and private labels. Conditional Approval No. 462 (April 4, 2001).
- Authentication in an Internet Banking Environment. Interagency guidance for national banks and federal savings associations addresses the need for risk-based assessment, customer awareness, and security measures to authenticate customers using a financial institution’s Internet-based services. Financial institutions should periodically ensure that their information security program identifies and assesses the risks associated with Internet-based products and services, identifies risk mitigation actions, and measures and evaluates customer awareness efforts; adjust as appropriate their information security program; and implement appropriate risk mitigation strategies. OCC Bulletin 2005-35 (October 12, 2005).

An Internet-based national bank will not have any traditional banking offices, but will deliver products and services through a variety of electronic delivery channels. Customers will conduct transactions through automated teller machines, Internet via a transactional website, and via a toll-free customer service line. These delivery channels are available at kiosks located on the premises of retail stores for which the bank has a joint marketing arrangement. The bank will operate under a brand name associated with the retail store partner. Conditional Approval No. 313 (July 9, 1999).

OCC Bulletin 2016-10 (March 21, 2016).

OCC Bulletin 2007-36 (August 30, 2007); OCC Bulletin 2016-6 (February 29, 2016).
- Safe Harbor for Reports of Suspicious Activities. The OCC joined other regulatory authorities in issuing interagency guidance on a court ruling affirming the statutory safe harbor provision for financial institutions and their employees who report known or suspected criminal offenses or other suspicious activities pursuant to the 1992 Annunzio-Wylie Anti-Money Laundering Act. OCC Bulletin No. 2004-24 (May 26, 2004).
- Disclosure of Suspicious Activity Reports (SARs). The OCC amended its regulations in 12 CFR Part 21 to: (1) clarify the scope of the statutory prohibition on a financial institution's disclosure of a SAR; (2) explain how the statutory prohibition on the government's disclosure of a SAR affects the OCC's standards governing the disclosure of SARs; (3) make clear that the exclusive standard applicable to the OCC's disclosure of a SAR (or any information that would reveal the existence of a SAR) is to fulfill official duties consistent with Title II of the Bank Secrecy Act; and (4) modify the safe harbor provision in the SAR regulations to include changes made by the USA PATRIOT Act. The amendments are based upon a similar final rule issued simultaneously by the Financial Crimes Enforcement Network. In addition, the OCC revised its Part 4 regulations governing the release of nonpublic OCC information. The Part 4 regulations make clear that the OCC's decision to release SARs is governed by the standards set forth in the amendments to the OCC's Part 21 regulations. OCC Bulletin 2010-43 (December 16, 2010).
- Money Services Businesses Guidance. The OCC issued a statement on risk management to provide clarification to national banks, savings associations, and federal branches and

Consumer

- Abusive and Predatory Lending Practices. Two advisory letters address the avoidance of abusive lending both in a bank's loan originations and in loans acquired through loan brokers or in loan purchase transactions. Guidance outlines the credit, legal, and other risks inherent in predatory lending, and provides detailed recommendations for banks to incorporate in their policies, procedures, and practices to minimize those risks. OCC Advisory Letter 2003-2 (February 21, 2003); OCC Advisory Letter 2003-3 (February 21, 2003). As of November 20, 2013, these advisory letters also apply to federal savings associations.
- Agency Summary Judgment Motion Granted Regarding Challenge to Jointly Issued Consumer Privacy Regulations. The D.C. Circuit affirmed the grant of a summary judgment motion filed by the OCC, Federal Trade Commission, Federal Reserve Board, OTS, FDIC, and National Credit Union Administration, holding that the agencies' interpretation of personally identifiable financial information under the Gramm–Leach–Bliley Act to encompass information on “credit headers” was permissible. The plaintiff, a credit reporting agency who was in the business of selling consumer information, challenged the agencies' joint issuance of bank customer privacy regulations under the Gramm–Leach–Bliley Act as beyond the Act's authority and in violation of the plaintiff's constitutional right to commercial free speech. Specifically at issue was whether the plaintiffs' sale of “credit header” information was subject to the regulations' restrictions and disclosure and reuse. Trans Union LLC v. FTC, 295 F.3d 42 (D.C. Cir. 2002).
- Community Reinvestment Act. A national bank's contribution to the Louisiana National Guard's Job Challenge Program may be a qualified investment for Community Reinvestment Act (CRA) purposes. The contribution would sponsor a low- or moderate-income local student's participation in the program, a skill-training program that selected students may enter after successful completion of the National Guard's Youth Challenge Program. Such a contribution would have a primary purpose of community development under the CRA rules because it supports a community service targeted to low- and moderate-income individuals, and would benefit the bank's assessment area. Letter from Michael S. Bylsma, Director, Community and Consumer Law Division (September 11, 2002).
- Community Reinvestment Act (CRA) Questions and Answers. The federal bank regulatory agencies published the Interagency Questions and Answers Regarding Community Reinvestment to provide guidance on the interpretation and application of the CRA regulations to agency personnel, financial institutions, and the public. The Interagency Questions and Answers were first published in 1996 and have been updated several times, most recently in 2016. 81 Fed. Reg. 48506 (July 25, 2016).

- Consumer Debt Sales: Risk Management Guidance. The guidance provides supervisory expectations for structuring sales of charged-off debt to third parties (e.g., debt buyers) in a manner that is consistent with safety and soundness and promotes fair treatment of customers. The guidance also lists the risks and supervisory concerns associated with the sale of this charged-off debt to debt buyers. OCC Bulletin 2014-37 (August 4, 2014).
- Deposit Advance Products (DAP) Supervisory Guidance. The guidance outlines appropriate underwriting policies, requires banks to monitor DAP portfolios, implements a “cooling off” period after repayment, and states that the OCC will take appropriate supervisory action to address unsafe and unsound banking practices and any violation of consumer protection statutes. 78 Fed. Reg. 70624 (November 26, 2014); OCC Bulletin 2013-40 (December 26, 2013).
- Deposit Reconciliation Practices: Interagency Guidance. Interagency guidance clarifies the agencies’ supervisory expectations regarding customer account deposit reconciliation practices. OCC Bulletin 2016-16 (May 18, 2016).
- Disclosure of Customer Account Number to Insurance Marketer. Under the Gramm–Leach–Bliley Act (GLBA) privacy rules, financial institutions may not disclose customer account numbers to a marketer of insurance products, even if the customer has consented to such disclosure. As a general rule, GLBA prohibits the disclosure of account numbers to nonaffiliated third parties for use in marketing. This prohibition remains effective after the customer has accepted the offer to buy the product being sold. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 910 (May 25, 2001).
- Electronic Consumer Disclosures and Notices. The Electronic Signatures in Global and National Commerce Act (E-SIGN Act) permits disclosures to be made or delivered electronically, provided that the consumer consents to such disclosures in accordance with the requirements of the Act. National banks contemplating making disclosures to their retail customers by electronic means should determine whether the special consumer consent provisions of the act apply to those disclosures. This advisory encourages national banks to pay particular attention to several issues when obtaining effective consumer consent to electronic disclosures. OCC Advisory Letter 2004-11 (October 1, 2004).
- Enforcement of the Federal Trade Commission Act. The Rhode Island Supreme Court, affirming in pertinent part the court below, held that the OCC had authority under the Federal Trade Commission Act to take enforcement action against national banks for unfair and deceptive practices, which prevents private plaintiffs from bringing an action against the bank under the Rhode Island Deceptive Trade Practices Act. Chavers v. Fleet Bank (RI), N.A., 844 A.2d 666 (R.I. 2004).

- Frequently Asked Questions on Identity Theft Rules. Six federal agencies issued a set of FAQs to help financial institutions, creditors, users of consumer reports, and issuers of credit cards and debit cards comply with federal regulations on identity theft and address discrepancies. The FAQs provide guidance on numerous aspects of the rules on identity theft “red flags” and notices of address discrepancies, which implement Sections of the Fair and Accurate Credit Transactions Act of 2003. These rules were issued jointly on November 9, 2007, including information on which types of entities and accounts are covered, the establishment and administration of Identity Theft Prevention Programs, addressing validation requirements applicable to card issuers, and the obligations of users of consumer reports upon receiving a notice of address discrepancy. OCC News Release 2009-65 (June 11, 2009).
- Gift Card Disclosures. OCC guidance to national banks and examiners on disclosure and marketing issues associated with gift cards focuses on the need for national banks that issue gift cards to do so in a manner in which both purchasers and recipients are fully informed of the product’s terms and conditions. National banks that issue gift cards should take appropriate steps to ensure that consumers are fully informed about the material terms and conditions of these products, noting that gift cards present special challenges because providing disclosures to a purchaser may not suffice to inform the gift card recipient about the product. OCC Bulletin No. 2006-34 (August 14, 2006). As of November 20, 2013, this guidance also applies to federal savings associations.
- Guidance on Response Programs for Unauthorized Access to Customer Information and Customer Notice (12 CFR Part 30). The OCC, the Federal Reserve Board, the FDIC, and the OTS issued an interpretation of Section 501(b) of the Gramm–Leach–Bliley Act and the Interagency Guidelines Establishing Information Security Standards. The interpretation describes the agencies’ expectations regarding the response programs, including customer notification procedures, that a financial institution should develop and implement to address the unauthorized access to, or use of, customer information that could result in substantial harm or inconvenience to a customer. 70 Fed. Reg. 15736 (March 29, 2005).
- Guidance on Risk Mitigation and Response to Website Spoofing Incidents. Website spoofing is a method of creating fraudulent websites that look similar, if not identical to an actual site, such as that of a bank, with the goal of enticing customers to enter information that would enable a criminal to use customers’ accounts to commit fraud or steal the customers’ identities. In response to the growing incidents of website spoofing, the OCC issued guidance to banks on how to respond to such incidents and steps that they can take to mitigate the risks to themselves and their customers from such incidents. OCC Bulletin No. 2005-24 (July 1, 2005). As of January 6, 2012, this guidance also applies to federal savings associations.
- HMDA Data. A set of interagency FAQs that addresses Home Mortgage Disclosure Act (HMDA) new loan price data disclosed by national banks and federal savings associations in 2005. OCC Bulletin No. 2005-17 (May 2, 2005).
- Illustrations of Consumer Information for Hybrid Adjustable Rate Mortgage Products.

Interagency guidance designed to illustrate the type of information to be provided to consumers on hybrid adjustable rate mortgage (ARM) products, as contemplated in the interagency Statement on Subprime Mortgage Lending, 72 Fed. Reg. 37569 (July 10, 2007), including information about potential payment shock. The guidance includes an illustration consisting of a narrative explanation of ARM products with a reduced initial interest rate and three separate charts comparing such ARMs with fixed rate mortgage products. 73 Fed. Reg. 30997 (May 29, 2008).

- Model Privacy Notice Form. Federal regulatory agencies issued a final model privacy notice form to make it easier for consumers to understand how financial institutions collect and share information about consumers. Under the Gramm–Leach–Bliley Act (GLBA), institutions must notify consumers of their information-sharing practices and inform consumers of their right to opt out of certain sharing practices. The Financial Services Regulatory Relief Act of 2006 amended GLBA to require the agencies to propose a succinct, easy-to-read, and comprehensible model form that allows consumers to easily compare the privacy practices of different financial institutions. The model form can be used by financial institutions to comply with these requirements. The final rule provides that a financial institution that chooses to use the model form obtains a “safe harbor” and will satisfy the disclosure requirements for notices. The rule also removes, after a transition period, the sample clauses now included in the appendices of the agencies’ privacy rules. 74 Fed. Reg. 62890 (December 1, 2009).
- Nontraditional Mortgage Products. Interagency guidance addresses both safety and soundness and consumer protection issues raised by interest-only and payment option mortgage loans. The consumer protection portion of the guidance states that institutions should take appropriate steps to alert consumers to the risks of these products, including the likelihood of increased future payment obligations and the risk of negative amortization, when consumers are shopping for a mortgage. The guidance also provides disclosure recommendations and describes practices that institutions should avoid. 71 Fed. Reg. 58609 (October 4, 2006); OCC Bulletin No. 2006-41 (October 4, 2006).
- OCC Guidelines Establishing Standards for Residential Mortgage Lending Practices (12 CFR Part 30, Appendix C). Final guidelines concerning the residential mortgage lending practices of national banks and their operating subsidiaries protect against national bank involvement in predatory, abusive, unfair, or deceptive residential mortgage lending practices. The guidelines identify practices that are inconsistent with sound residential mortgage lending practices and describe terms and practices that may lead to predatory, abusive, unfair, or deceptive lending practices. They also address steps banks should take to mitigate risks associated with their purchase of residential mortgage loans and use of mortgage brokers to originate loans. 70 Fed. Reg. 6329 (February 7, 2005). [Editor’s note: In 2014, Part 30 and its appendices were amended to be applicable to both national banks and federal savings associations. Consequently, Part 30 guidelines concerning residential mortgage lending practices now apply to savings associations.]
- Obtaining Credit Reports in Business Loan Transactions. Under the Fair Credit Reporting Act (FCRA), lenders need not obtain a consumer’s consent before obtaining the consumer's credit report in connection with a business credit transaction where the individual is or will be personally liable on the loan, such as in the case of an individual proprietor, co-signer, or guarantor. The FCRA permits the furnishing of consumer reports to persons who intend to use them in connection with a credit transaction involving the consumer on whom the information is to be furnished and involving the extension of credit to, or review or collection of an account of, the consumer. Those criteria are satisfied where the consumer may be liable on the loan. OCC Advisory Letter 2001-6 (July 6, 2001).

- OCC Consumer Tips for Avoiding Modification Scams and Foreclosure Rescue Scams. OCC issuance identifying common types of foreclosure rescue and loan modification schemes, providing guidance on steps consumers can take to protect themselves from such schemes, and setting forth information about how consumers can obtain legitimate assistance in helping to address their financial problems. OCC Consumer Advisory 2011-1 (February 24, 2011).
- Overdraft Programs. Certain overdraft programs, offered by third-party vendors and designed primarily to increase banks' fee income, raise legal, supervisory, and policy concerns. Supervisory concerns arise from the potential credit risk created by the overdraft loans and the bank's arrangements with the third-party vendor providing the product. Policy concerns arise because the programs may encourage customers to write "not sufficient funds" checks, thus promoting poor fiscal responsibility on the part of some consumers. These programs also may raise potential compliance issues under the Truth in Lending Act, Truth in Savings Act, Electronic Fund Transfer Act, Equal Credit Opportunity Act, Federal Trade Commission Act, and Regulation O. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 914 (August 3, 2001).
- Overdraft Protection Programs Guidance. The guidance describes federal consumer compliance laws that may apply to overdraft protection programs, and industry best practices for the marketing and communications of these programs. Such practices include clearly disclosing fees, explaining the impact of transaction clearing policies on the overdraft fees consumers may incur, disclosing the types of consumer banking transactions covered by the program, and monitoring program usage. The agencies also advised financial institutions to alert consumers before a transaction triggers any fees; to provide consumers the opportunity either to opt-in or opt-out of the program; and to notify consumers promptly each time overdraft protection is used. 70 Fed. Reg. 9127 (February 24, 2005); OCC Bulletin 2005-9 (April 6, 2005). As of November 20, 2013, this guidance also applies to federal savings associations.
- Placing Loan Account Numbers on Mortgage-Related Documents. Under the Gramm–Leach–Bliley Act (GLBA) privacy rules, lenders may place the borrower's loan account number on mortgages, deeds of trust, and assignments and releases of mortgages that are then recorded in public records. This practice is not prohibited by GLBA's provisions on disclosing account numbers, which, as a general rule, ban the disclosure of account numbers to nonaffiliated third parties for use in marketing. In addition, this practice falls within the exception to GLBA's opt-out requirements for disclosures of information that are "necessary to effect, administer, or enforce the transaction" as that term is defined in GLBA. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 917 (September 4, 2001); OCC Interpretive Letter No. 918

(September 4, 2001).

- Privacy Provisions Regarding Financial Exploitation of Older Adults. Interagency guidance clarifies that reporting suspected financial abuse of older adults to appropriate local, state, or federal agencies does not, in general, violate the privacy provisions of the Gramm–Leach–Bliley Act or its implementing regulations. OCC Bulletin 2013-21 (October 4, 2013).
- Qualified and Non-Qualified Mortgage Loans Guidance. This guidance consists of two interagency statements on qualified mortgages. The first statement clarifies safety and soundness expectations and Community Reinvestment Act considerations for residential mortgage lending relative to the Ability-to-Repay and Qualified Mortgage Standards Rule under the Truth in Lending Act and its implementing provisions. The second statement clarifies fair lending risk and the relationship between the Ability-to-Repay Rule and the disparate impact doctrine of the Equal Credit Opportunity Act and its implementing regulations. OCC Bulletin 2013-38 (December 13, 2013).
- School-Based Savings Programs. The OCC encourages national bank participation in financial literacy initiatives such as school-based bank savings programs, which can qualify for positive consideration under Community Reinvestment Act requirements.
- Servicemembers Civil Relief Act (SCRA): Revised Examination Procedures. OCC issuance provided revised examination procedures applicable to national banks and federal savings associations regarding SCRA procedures. The procedures replace the SCRA procedures in the “Other Consumer Protection Laws and Regulations” booklet of the Comptroller’s Handbook. OCC Bulletin 2011-16 (May 3, 2011).
- Social Media: Consumer Compliance Risk Management Guidance. The guidance addresses the applicability of consumer protection and compliance laws, regulations, and policies to activities conducted via social media. It identifies potential risk areas including consumer compliance and legal risks, as well as related risks, such as reputation and operational risks, associated with the use of social media. The guidance also outlines compliance risk management expectations that allow financial institutions to identify, measure, monitor, and control risks related to social media. OCC Bulletin 2013-39 (December 17, 2013).
- Tax Refund-Related Products: Risk Management Guidance. The guidance outlines safety and soundness measures that national banks and federal savings associations should follow if they offer tax refund-related products. OCC Bulletin 2015-36 (August 4, 2015).
- Unfair or Deceptive Acts or Practices. In evaluating whether a national bank or its operating subsidiary has engaged in unfair or deceptive acts or practices, the OCC will utilize the legal standards that have been developed under Section 5 of the Federal Trade Commission Act. Potentially unfair or deceptive acts or practices also may raise issues under the Truth in Lending Act, the Equal Credit Opportunity Act, privacy rules, the Fair Debt Collection Practices Act, and other laws. National banks and their operating subsidiaries should take affirmative steps to avoid the legal, compliance, and reputation risks that would ensue from engaging in unfair or deceptive acts or practices. OCC Advisory Letter 2002-3 (March 22, 2002). As of October 1, 2014, this guidance also applies to federal savings associations.

- Unfair or Deceptive Credit Practices Guidance. Interagency guidance clarifies that the repeal of credit practices rules does not mean that the unfair or deceptive acts or practices described in those former regulations are permissible. OCC Bulletin 2014-42 (August 22, 2014).
- Writing a Check: Understanding Your Rights. Consumer advisory provides consumers with important information about their rights when they use checks to make payments. The advisory outlines the different ways that checks can be processed and the significance for consumers of those differences. For example, the advisory informs consumers that various methods for electronic check processing may mean that funds are taken from consumers' bank accounts more quickly than before. As a result, it is even more important for consumers to ensure that they have enough money in their accounts to cover checks at the time they write them. The advisory also discusses the different laws and regulations governing check transactions, how consumers' rights may vary depending on how a check is processed, and how consumers may resolve problems in connection with their checks. Preemption

Federal preemption of state law restrictions on national bank activities applies whether the activities are conducted at branches, nonbranch facilities, or over the Internet.

- Affiliation. States generally may not prevent or restrict national banks or their affiliates from affiliating with any entity, including a securities or insurance firm, as authorized by the Gramm–Leach–Bliley Act (GLBA) or any other federal law. 15 USC 6701 (as added by Section 104 of GLBA).
- Annuities. Texas insurance licensing laws that prevent or significantly interfere with a national bank’s authority to sell annuities as agent are preempted, but other state laws are not preempted; applicable federal securities laws apply to the sale of annuities. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 749 (September 13, 1996).
- Anti-Discrimination Laws. State anti-discrimination laws are generally not preempted under the OCC’s preemption rule. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 998 (March 9, 2004).
- Automated Teller Machine (ATM) Fees. The National Bank Act and OCC regulations preempt ordinances that prohibit banks from charging ATM fees to non-depositors. Bank of America, v. City and County of San Francisco, 309 F.3d 551 (9th Cir. 2002). See also Bank of America, N.A., et al. v. City and County of San Francisco, CA, 215 F.3d 1332 (9th Cir. 2000).
- Automated Teller Machine (ATM) Operations. State laws in Massachusetts and Florida that purport to restrict the authority of a national bank to establish ATMs in those states are preempted. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 939 (October 15, 2001).
- Automated Teller Machine (ATM) Restrictions. Portions of the Colorado Electronic Funds Transfer Act prohibiting national banks from placing their names on ATMs and giving the state regulatory authority over national bank ATMs are preempted. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 789 (June 27, 1997).
- Auction of Certificates of Deposit (CDs) Over the Internet. Pennsylvania laws that purport to regulate the auction of CDs over the Internet by requiring auctioneers to: be licensed by the Pennsylvania Board of Auctioneer Examiners; pay a licensing fee; and keep records of sales of property at auction are preempted because they conflict with federal law authorizing national banks to conduct the permissible activities of deposit-taking and marketing, as well as OCC regulations authorizing national banks to use the Internet to do so. The state laws at issue also would violate the OCC's exclusive visitorial powers over national banks. Preemption Determination, 65 Fed. Reg. 15037 (March 20, 2000).

- Balloon Payment Loans. 12 CFR Part 34 and the OCC's preemption opinions preempt an Indiana statute that restricts the origination of subordinate lien mortgages and loans with balloon payment features. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1015 (September 20, 2004).⁸
- Complete Preemption Applied to Lawsuits Regarding Usury Brought in State Court. A usury case brought against a national bank in state court can be removed to federal court under the doctrine of complete preemption. Complete preemption is a corollary to the 'well-pleaded complaint' rule, which provides that a claim that falls within an exclusively federal cause of action necessarily presents a federal question and warrants removal. Beneficial Nat'l Bank v. Anderson, 539 U.S. 1 (2003).
- Consumer Protection. The OCC addresses concerns about the impact of the OCC's preemption and visitorial powers rules on consumers by (1) explaining the agency's approach to preventing predatory lending practices and (2) describing its record of taking appropriate action to protect consumers when the agency finds such practices have occurred. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 999 (March 9, 2004).
- Contacts from State Officials. The applicability of state laws to national banks, as well as the authority to enforce those laws, raises complex issues of both federal preemption and the statutory authority of the OCC as the supervisor and regulator of national banks. Because of the complexity of these issues, national banks should consult with the OCC if they are contacted by state officials seeking information that may constitute an attempt by the state to exercise visitorial or enforcement powers over the bank. State officials are also encouraged to contact the OCC if they have information indicating that a national bank may be violating federal or applicable state law or if they seek information from a national bank. OCC Advisory Letter 2002-9 (November 25, 2002).
- Debt Cancellation Contracts and Debt Suspension Agreements. OCC rules at 12 CFR Part 37 address the application of state law to debt cancellation contracts and debt suspension agreements.
- Document Preparation Fees. In amicus briefs, the OCC has explained that the National Bank Act and 12 CFR 7.4002 authorize a bank to charge document preparation fees; therefore, contrary state laws prohibiting national banks from charging such fees, because such fees would constitute the unauthorized practice of law in that state, are preempted. See also Charter One Mortg. Corp. v. Condra, 865 N.E.2d 602 (Ind. 2007).

⁸ The Dodd–Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act precluded federal preemption of state laws with respect to operating subsidiaries of national banks. Therefore, the part of this precedent that addresses operating subsidiaries is no longer valid.

- Dodd–Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act (Dodd-Frank Act). The Dodd–Frank Act provisions addressing the federal preemption of state law: (1) preclude preemption of state law for national bank subsidiaries, agents, and affiliates; (2) replace the “occupation of the field” preemption standard formerly applicable to federal savings associations with the “conflict” preemption standard applicable to national banks; (3) affirm that the conflict preemption standard articulated in the Supreme Court’s Barnett decision governs the preemption of state consumer financial laws; (4) set forth procedural and consultation requirements for certain preemption determinations going forward and clarify the criteria for judicial review of those determinations; and (5) address the authority of state attorneys general to enforce federal and state laws by codifying the Supreme Court’s decision in the Cuomo case. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1132 (May 12, 2011).
- Fiduciary Powers. A national bank is authorized under federal law to be appointed, and accept any appointment to act in any fiduciary capacity that is permitted for state fiduciaries in Missouri without obtaining any express qualification under Missouri law, including a reciprocity certificate. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1080 (April 4, 2007).
- Fiduciary Powers. A national bank is authorized under federal law to be appointed, and accept any appointment to act in a fiduciary capacity that is permitted for state fiduciaries in North Carolina without obtaining any express qualification or otherwise qualifying under North Carolina law. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1103 (September 18, 2008).
- Fiduciary Powers. A national bank is authorized under federal law to conduct fiduciary activities in the states of Georgia and South Carolina notwithstanding state laws that purport to limit the bank’s ability to do so by requiring, among other things, that the bank be federally insured and have a physical presence in the state. In addition, the bank may deposit the amount of securities required pursuant to federal law and OCC regulations, rather than a conflicting amount required under Florida law. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1106 (October 10, 2008).
- Fiduciary Powers. State laws that prohibit or restrict national banks from soliciting, conducting, or operating a trust business through nonbranch trust offices are preempted. This enables a national bank to conduct a nationwide trust business through a nonbranch office, notwithstanding branching requirements or state law prohibitions, restrictions, or licensing requirements in the states in which the activities are being conducted. 12 USC 92a; OCC Interpretive Letter No. 872 (October 28, 1999); OCC Interpretive Letter No. 866 (October 8, 1999).
- Fiduciary Powers–Multistate. A national bank’s trust powers are governed by federal law and derive from 12 USC 92a and 12 CFR Part 9. A national bank looks to the law of the state in which it acts in a fiduciary capacity in order to determine which capacities are permissible for the bank to act in for customers in that state, as well as in other states. A state’s authority to regulate instrumentalities of its own government (for example, by enacting state laws restricting the types of trustees or other fiduciaries that those state government instrumentalities may appoint) does not affect the fiduciary authorities granted to national banks as a matter of federal law. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 973 (August 12, 2003).

- Fiduciary Powers–Multistate. A national bank has the authority to implement a national fiduciary program. Pursuant to the OCC’s regulations at 12 CFR 9.7(e)(2), state law, other than a law made applicable by 12 USC 92a, that limits or establishes preconditions on the exercise of the fiduciary powers to be exercised as part of the bank’s program are not applicable to the bank. While a national bank may have the federal authority to act in various fiduciary capacities in a given state, that authority does not determine whether a state instrumentality has authority under its governing state statutes to contract with the national bank for fiduciary services. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 995 (June 22, 2004).
- Georgia Fair Lending Act (GFLA). The OCC issued a determination and order concluding that the provisions of the GFLA affecting national banks’ real estate lending are preempted by federal law and, accordingly, that the GFLA does not apply to national banks or national bank operating subsidiaries that engage in real estate lending activities in Georgia. The determination and order was published in the Federal Register, 68 Fed. Reg. 46264 (August 5, 2003).⁹ In addition, the OCC issued two letters to clarify (1) that the applicability of any state insurance sales laws to national banks is outside the scope of the determination and order and the OCC’s preemption rule, and (2) the applicability of the OCC’s preemption rule and the determination and order to mortgage brokers. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1000 (April 2, 2004); OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1002 (May 13, 2004).
- Insurance. As a general rule, states may not prevent or restrict national banks or their affiliates from engaging in any activities authorized or permitted under the Gramm–Leach–Bliley Act (GLBA). Specifically in the areas of insurance sales, solicitations, and cross-marketing activities, state laws not covered by the 13 specific safe harbors provided for in GLBA may be preempted under the traditional preemption principles set forth by the U.S. Supreme Court in Barnett. 15 USC 6701 (as added by Section 104 of the GLBA).
- Insurance Law under GLBA, Massachusetts. Certain provisions of the Massachusetts Consumer Protection Act Relative to the Sale of Insurance by Banks are preempted under the insurance preemption standards established by Section 104 of the Gramm–Leach–Bliley Act (GLBA). Specifically, federal law preempts provisions of Massachusetts law that purport to prohibit: (1) nonlicensed bank personnel from referring a prospective customer to a licensed insurance agent or broker except upon an inquiry initiated by the customer; (2) a bank from compensating an employee for such a referral; and (3) a bank from telling a loan applicant that insurance products are available through the bank until the loan application is approved and, in the case of a loan secured by a mortgage on real property, until after the customer has accepted the bank’s written commitment to extend credit. Preemption Determination, 67 Fed. Reg. 13405 (March 22, 2002).
- Insurance Law under GLBA, West Virginia. West Virginia and the state insurance commissioner filed a petition with the Fourth Circuit seeking a review of an OCC preemption determination (66 Fed. Reg. 51502 (October 9, 2001)) in which the OCC opined that certain provisions of the West Virginia Insurance Sales Consumer Protection Act are preempted by the National Bank Act. In an unpublished opinion, a majority of the Fourth Circuit panel held: (1) the petitioners had standing to bring the suit; (2) the OCC had implicit authority under Gramm–Leach–Bliley Act to issue its preemption opinion; and (3) the state statutes at issue were preempted by the National Bank Act. Cline v. Hawke, 51 Fed. App’x. 392 (4th Cir. 2002).

- Interest Rates: Exportation of Rates. National banks located in more than one state may export interest rates (including any fees in connection with a credit extension or making a line of credit available) from one state to customers in another state. This “most-favored-lender” status allows a national bank to export these rates from its main office state to customers in any state, with no restrictions, and from a branch office state if certain conditions are met. 12 USC 85; 12 CFR 7.4001; Smiley v. Citibank (S.D.), N.A., 517 U.S. 735 (1996); OCC Interpretive Letter No. 803 (October 7, 1997); OCC Interpretive Letter No. 782 (May 21, 1997).
- Limits on Sales of Reclaimed Leased Vehicles. Certain provisions of Ohio law that purport to limit the ability of national banks to engage in the business of leasing automobiles are preempted. As interpreted by the Ohio Bureau of Motor Vehicles, Ohio law prohibits the public sale of reclaimed leased vehicles. Direct sales to the public are permitted in the case of repossessed vehicles, but vehicles reclaimed from a lessor for non-payment are not considered “repossessed” under Ohio law. As a result, national banks would be required to sell reclaimed leased vehicles at wholesale to persons licensed as dealers under state law. These requirements frustrate the ability of national banks to operate efficiently and in a manner consistent with safe and sound banking practices, and therefore, would be preempted. Preemption Determination, 66 Fed. Reg. 23977 (May 10, 2001).
- Nationwide Nonbranch Operations. National banks may establish nationwide loan production offices (LPOs), deposit production offices (DPOs), automated teller machines (ATMs), remote service units (RSUs), and other nonbranch facilities, notwithstanding state laws that attempt to regulate the location or operation of, or to impose licensing requirements on, those facilities. ATMs are excluded from the definition of a branch by statute. 12 USC 36(j), 1813(o). LPOs, DPOs, RSUs, and other nonbranch offices do not constitute branches under OCC interpretations and/or court decisions. See, e.g., Bank One, Utah v. Guttau, 190 F.3d 844 (8th Cir. 1999); 12 CFR 7.4003-4005.
- Not Sufficient Funds (NSF) Fees. A national bank has authority, pursuant to 12 USC 24(Seventh) and 12 CFR 7.4002 to charge NSF fees when the fee resulted, in part, from the bank’s policy of posting checks in order from the highest to the lowest amount. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 997 (April 15, 2002).
- Official Checks. A national bank is authorized pursuant to 12 USC 24(Seventh) and 12 CFR 7.4002 to establish and charge a fee to a non-accountholder customer for the service of cashing an official check. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1094 (February 27, 2008).

- Ohio Financial Institutions Tax (FIT). The Ohio FIT, which levies a tax on every financial institution conducting business in the state, did not treat a national bank with its principal office in Ohio as if it was an Ohio-chartered state bank, in contravention of 12 USC 548, because it did not provide certain tax credits to national banks that it provided to Ohio-chartered state banks. Therefore, the imposition of the FIT on a national bank with its principal office in Ohio was not authorized under federal law. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1155 (September 17, 2015).
- “On Us” Check Cashing Fees. A national bank has authority, pursuant to 12 USC 24(Seventh) and 12 CFR 7.4002, to charge fees for cashing checks drawn on the bank and payable to non-accountholders of the bank. Letter from Julie L. Williams to John H. Huffstutler, Esq., Associate General Counsel, Bank of America Legal Department (October 8, 2002); and Letter from Julie L. Williams to J. Thomas Cardwell, Esquire, Akerman, Senterfitt & Eidson, P.A. (April 4, 2002).
- Overdraft Practices. A national bank is federally authorized to honor overdrafts and charge fees for doing so. These practices do not implicate the OCC’s rules concerning state laws pertaining to the “right to collect debts.” OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1082 (May 17, 2007).
- Prepayment Fees. National banks can charge prepayment fees to the same extent as federal savings associations under 12 USC 85 and the Michigan parity statute that allows state banks to charge prepayment fees to the same extent as federal savings associations. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1004 (August 4, 2004).
- State Unclaimed Property and Escheat Laws. OCC preemption and visitorial powers regulations do not change existing standards, established by U.S. Supreme Court precedent and federal statute, governing the applicability and enforcement of state unclaimed property and escheat laws. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1006 (August 19, 2004).
- Uniform Commercial Code. The Uniform Commercial Code (UCC) does not “obstruct, impair, or condition” the ability of national banks to exercise fully the powers granted by federal law; those powers are implemented and supported by the UCC, which provides a uniform law of general applicability on which parties rely in their daily commercial transactions. OCC Interpretive Letter No. 1005 (June 10, 2004).
- Visitorial Powers: Cuomo v. Clearing House Association. This case involved an attempt by the New York State Attorney General to obtain non-public information from national banks in connection with an investigation over alleged fair lending violations. The Supreme Court agreed that this was an illegal encroachment on the OCC’s exclusive “visitorial” powers to inspect, examine, supervise, and regulate national banks but clarified that the OCC’s exclusive visitorial powers would not block a state law enforcement official from bringing an action in court against a national bank to enforce a non-preempted state law. Cuomo v. Clearing House Ass’n, L.L.C., 557 U.S. 519 (2009).
